NEW BATTLES LOOM ON RAIL STOCK FIRMS

Outcome of War on Holding Companies Expected to Have Wide Effect

QUIZ OPENS THIS WEEK
No Real Objection to Abandonment of Firms but Protection Desired

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—(CPA)—Few things
on the surface seem more perfunctory,
yet underneath have the makings of a major controversy, than the two moves now being made with reference to holding companies that possess railroad securities.

In both the senate and the house
there is a definite war going on against holding companies and the railroad companies and the consolidation plans but the rival bankers,
who are, of course, in turn involved whenever there is a change in the controlling ownership of a railroad which they are accustomed to fin-

Senator Couzens of Michigan,
chairman of the interstate commerce committee, has announced his intention of pressing his resolution to suspend all consolidation approvals by the Interstate Commerce commission till an investigation of holding companies has been completed. Representative Parker, chairman of the house interstate commerce committee, begins on Saturday of this week hearings on the resolution adopted by the house which permits a sweeping inquiry into all phases of holding company operations. The language of the resolution was so far reaching that it caused amazement when it was sponsored by a group at the house
usually regarded as conservative.

OWNERS DIVIDED

This has led to the belief that the railroad owners are themselves divided and that underneath it all there is no real objection to the abandonment of holding companies
as such, but that the protection against possible activities by competitors. In other words, until the holding company methods of pooling railroad stocks was developed, the competitive interests in acquiring railroad stocks were individual. Not knowing what the Interstate Commerce commission would do, the various groups wanted to be in a position to trade whatever was necessary to get the maximum advantage
for their respective roads.

It seems to be a foregone conclusion that the anti-trust acts will be invoked to prevent companies from controlling their competitors
in certain regions and that the net results of the hearings will be to stimulate action by the department of justice unless by mutual consent
the holding companies are un-scrambled to such an extent as to make restraint of trade in a given region unlikely. But until all the facts are developed or until the railroads themselves find some way to forestall punitive steps by the government, the whole consolidation program is bound to be suspended anyway.

Just what are the forces back of the warfare in congressional committees will become apparent as the hearings develop and witnesses are called. It is considered likely that minority interests are especially concerned with the operations of holding companies that are now in a position to dictate policies of railroads
in competition with each other.

It would not be surprising if, notwithstanding the adjournment of congress in June, there will be some committee investigation during the summer months, so that the railroad problem may become a major topic of controversy at least for the remainder of 1930.

THINK 3,241 SCORE SETS STATE RECORD

Green Bay — (CP)—The Wisconsin
Public Service Commission today set
what is believed to be a new state record here last night when it scored 3,241 in games of 1,078, 1,121 and 1,042. It was competing in a telegraphic meet between Bylsky interests teams in all parts of the country. It is expected to win the first place in the tournament with that score. Every man on the team was over the 600 mark.

FOWLER SURE OF ELECTION TO HIGH COURT

Cannon's Campaign Takes Victory from Reynolds, Progressive Leader

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Justice Chester A. Fowler was returned to the Wisconsin Supreme court on the basis of returns in Tuesday's election from more than two-thirds of the state. Shortly after noon today he held a lead of more than 18,000 votes over Attorney General John W. Reynolds. The third candidate, Raymond J. Cannon, Milwaukee, trailed far behind.

Discovery of an error in returns
from Door-co. cut into the commanding lead which had built up for Fowler, but studious political followers expressed belief that returns from remaining precincts would give Fowler and Reynolds about vote for vote.

Tabulations by The Associated Press at noon today showed the vote
in 1,380 out of 2,778 precincts, to be:
Fowler, 151,897; Reynolds, 133,564;
Cannon, 74,784.

Thus, the Fond du Lac jurist, appointed last fall by Governor Kohler to succeed the late A. J. Vinje, held the advantage over the Progressive-Republican attorney general and the Milwaukee lawyer, who sought "indication" of the polls through his effort to gain a seat in the court which had suspended him.

Reynolds would not concede the election of his opponent last night.
He still awaited returns from rural districts which nominally are strongly Progressive. The available vote indicated, however, did not indicate a strong enough trend toward him to overcome the Fowler lead.

CANNON BEATS REYNOLDS

Reynolds could blame his defeat
on Cannon. The Milwaukee man took Milwaukee-co away from him and cut heavily into his vote in the lakeshore industrial counties. Nearly everywhere else in the state, the votes cast for Cannon would have given Reynolds a majority.

Balloting was light. To Conservative politicians, however, the result was a straw indicating which way
the wind might blow in the primaries
this fall. They viewed the outcome as the first definite expression by the public of approval for Kohler in appointing Justice Fowler. The election, however, was non-partisan, and factional elements had no official recognition.

Throughout the state, generally speaking, the counties which have supported Conservative Republicans in the past swung to Fowler and the so-called Progressive counties supported Reynolds and Cannon. There was an exception in the abnormally
large votes piled up in Fond du Lac, Cannon's home, and Brown-co,
where Reynolds lives.

COSGRAVE AGAIN FREE STATE HEAD

Reelected President After Two Chief Opponents Are Beaten in Vote

Dublin, Irish Free State—(CP)—William T. Cosgrave was restored today to the presidency of the Irish Free State, an office he held from 1922 until last week, when he resigned after defeat in the Daily on an opposition measure.

He was reelected by the Dail Eircann last night by a vote of 80 to 65. In two preceding ballots his two opponents, Eamonn de Valera of the Fianna Fail, and Thomas J. O'Connell, labor leader, were eliminated.
Valera by a vote of 66 to 54, and O'Connell by a vote of 73 to 13.

Mr. Cosgrave's name was proposed only after Mr. de Valera, who is in the United States on a lecture tour,
had been nominated and defeated.
and Mr. O'Connell had been put up and voted down. His election had been taken as almost a foregone conclusion since his resignation last week.

The president of the Irish Free
State is not president in the American sense, but is president of the cabinet council, whose members he appoints from the membership of the Dail, and which is responsible to the Dail. The nominal head of the government is the governor general, appointed by the crown, James Mac-Neill.

When President Cosgrave's ministry fell last week it had survived since 1922, passing a general election unscathed, and had attained a record for longevity among European cabinets. It fell by a vote of 66 to 64 on an opposition bill extending old age pensions.

ALCOHOLISM KILLS FIVE IN MILWAUKEE

Milwaukee—(CP)—Five persons died here from acute alcoholism in March according to the deputy coroner.
This is the largest monthly total.

Two States Searching For Car Carrying Human Body

Garageman Clubbed and Shot When He Tries to View Outline Believed Body

Menominee, Mich.—(CP)—Two men in a green sedan, believed to be carrying with them a human body,
were sought today in one of the greatest manhunts in the history of this district.

They shot and brutally clubbed an inquisitive Menominee garageman at 9 o'clock last night. By midnight, all available state police and the sheriffs of half a dozen upper Michigan counties had joined with Wisconsin officials to cut off their flight. All main roads were guarded. Details were posted at the interstate bridges in Marinette and Florence-co.

The garageman, Alex C. Andrews, was in a critical condition today
from loss of blood. He told police that he had been called by a passing motorist to Ingallston, Mich., on U. S. Highway 2, about 17 miles north of here. A car was in the ditch there.

Andrews said he pulled the machine out and found it had a flat tire. He believed at the time that only one man was in the car. When he opened the front door to look for a new inner tube under the seat, he glanced back and saw a man in the rear seat.

"Keep your damn nose out of here," the second man snapped.
Andrews already had seen what appeared to be a human body wrapped in blankets lying at the man's feet.

"This looks fishy," he said. "Let me see." He grabbed the rear door handle. The first man, standing behind him, fired. The shot plucked the left hand. When he staggered back, Andrews said, he was beaten
over the head with the gun butt.

When the garageman recovered consciousness a few minutes later, the car had disappeared. He climbed into his wrecker and started back to town. At a garage a few miles off, he told county authorities yesterday. Friends brought him to a hospital.

State police, here to investigate a murder case at Banat, Mich., were called. When they heard his story, they summoned detachments from Marquette and Iron Mountain, and called in the sheriffs of Delta, Menominee, Dickinson and Marinettecos. Posses started out at once.

TWO WAGNER BILLS GIVEN APPROVAL

Third Unemployment Proposal Held Over by Senate
Commerce Committee

Washington—(CP)—The senate
commerce committee today approved without a record vote two Wagner unemployment bills that would create a stabilization board to plan
for public construction, but the committee held over a third Wagner proposal to set up a federal employment agency.

Senator Wagner announced after the meeting he would make a determined drive to bring the bills up for final action by the senate, on a special order, immediately after the Mugole Shoals debate is concluded.
That debate is expected to be completed within the next few days.

The measures would carry an appropriation of $150,000,000 and also would arrange for facilities to collect information on unemployment.

The committee deferred action on the employment agency proposal in response to a plea for a hearing received today from the National Association of Manufacturers.

It was said in a letter to Chairman
Johnson, Republican, California, dated today, that the organization was disturbed at a possibility that the legislation if enacted might bring conflict between federal and state functions with regard to employment agencies.

SCIENCE HUNTS FOR SLAYER IN CHICAGO

Chicago—(CP)—A modern scientific crime laboratory threw its resources
into the search for the ribbon slayer of Mrs. Mildred Helsing today after police had practically abandoned hope of solving the mystery through the usual methods.

None of the clues found by police seemed to be any aid toward finding the person who strangled the young wife with a satin ribbon Tuesday evening. Even the black ribbon found around her neck and at first considered a valuable clue, gave no
hint of the slayer after other pieces, exactly like the death ribbon, were found in the apartment.

The recently organized criminal detection laboratory of Northwestern university was called into the case and today was carrying an unusual microscopic study involving the suspects police have rounded up as well as the slain woman's husband, Reuben Helsing.

3 PRESIDENTS USE NEW RADIO SYSTEM

Washington—(CP)—The voices of the presidents of three American countries were called upon today to inaugurate a radio-telephone system for the International Telephone and Telegraph company which linked the North and South American continents in a public telephone service.
The program for the ceremonies included the exchange of greetings between President Hoover, President
Carlos Huanes of Chile and President
Juan Campesino of Uruguay.

President Hipolito Yrigoyen of Argentina, was scheduled to join in the exchange of greetings but shortly before the time for the conversation
to begin he called President Hoover
that he would be unable to participate.

AGED RICHLAND CENTER MILLIONAIRE IS DEAD

Richland Center—(CP)—A. H.
Krouskop, Richland Center's only millionaire, died here Wednesday night. He was 89 years old. His nearest relative is W. F. McCormick,
a nephew, who recently has been business manager for his uncle.

HEAVY DAMAGE DONE IN GREECE BY QUAKES

Athens, Greece—(CP)—Earthquakes
continued Wednesday in the Volo, Thessaly area. The village of Sam-psoz was altered beyond recognition with most of the houses made uninhabitable. Twenty-five houses at Pounti collapsed. Schools were closed in several places.

SCORES HURT, BIG DAMAGE TO PROPERTY

Debris Hurlled in Many Directions—Injured Crowd Hospitals

Philadelphia—(CP)—At least nine persons were killed and scores of others injured in a series of explosions today at the plant of the Pennsylvania Fireworks Display company, Inc., at Devon, 16 miles west of Philadelphia. About 35 injured persons were taken to the Bryan Mawr hospital.

Most of the dead and injured were employees of the plant. Three of the dead were women. Two little girls, sisters, firemen said, were killed at play outside the plant. Other bodies were found in the debris. They were badly burned.

The plant consisted of 10 small buildings on a seven acre tract near the Pennsylvania railroad's main line to the west.

Like a roar of a battery of artillery
the first explosion let loose at about 9:50 a. m. sending debris through the air for long distances. Two other detonations followed immediately and for 20 minutes there were explosions like the rattle of guns. The heavy detonations were felt more than 20 miles away.

WINDOWS SHATTERED

Many windows in a Pennsylvania railroad local train at Devon station
were broken and some passengers were cut by glass. They were treated and sent to their homes. After the explosion hundreds of persons crowded the four tracks of the railroad. Railroad men summoned help from the Valley Forge Military accademy and 250 cadets went on duty patrolling the railroad. Cadets with improvised flags were sent up and down the railroad to caution train crews of the danger from persons running on the right of way.

Identification of most of the dead
was difficult.

A great amount of minor damage
was reported in the immediate vicinity of the explosion and windows were broken at distant points.

BLASTS IN NEW YORK

New York—(CP)—Several persons were reported injured in a series of explosions that blew off a dozen manhole covers in lower Broadway today where workmen were repairing a gas main.

The blasts occurred between 28th and 30th-sts. Police reserves were called out and all persons immediately were ordered out of buildings in the vicinity, which includes several hotels.

The front wheels were blown off
a wagon which was passing over one of the manholes when it blew up and the horses were thrown to the pavement.

WINS $23,130 BUT GOES BACK TO WORK

Garfield, N. J.—(CP)—John Kristof-sky, where he works this morning, Kristof-sky has been going to work every morning for a long time, and the reason that it's news today is that he has a cablegram from London announcing him the winner of $23,130
in the Grand National Steeplechase.

John paid $1 for his ticket.

Kristofsky, a native of Poland, is a "Sure I'm going to work," he said.
"How do I know it's real? I've lived in this world long enough to know that nothing is what it's cracked up to be."

"No, no, I'll stay right here in the four rooms until I get the money."
If I get it, maybe I'll move, and maybe I won't.

John is a millhand in Passaic.

Opera Star Dies

London—(CP)—Madame Albani, noted soprano, died today in London.

GERMAN CABINET WINS FIRST TILT

Bruening Concerned Over Task of Getting Majority for Program

Berlin—(CP)—Chancellor Heinrich
Bruening, whose new cabinet scored its first victory in the Reichstag today, defeating a non-confidence motion, called a cabinet meeting immediately after adjournment to decide on his government's position.

He was reported to be concerned over the problem of obtaining a majority for the government's complete program and to have consulted his cabinet as to whether it would be better after all to dissolve the Reichstag and have new elections.

The Nationalists, led by Dr. Hug-enberg, who did not support today's non-confidence motion, which was defeated 252 to 187, made so many reservations that Chancellor Bruening was fearful the Nationalist support might prove illusory when it came to practical work.

It was understood that the cabinet shared Chancellor Bruening's anguish at Dr. Hugenberg's attitude, but calmer counsels prevailed
and the remainder of the cabinet
session was devoted to working out detailed legislative measures which will be presented as soon as possible to the Reichstag.

In the course of his address before the Reichstag today Dr. Hugenberg assured his party was willing to support the cabinet's program. He gave the cabinet a vote of his only because it promised financial relief. His party assumed no responsibility
whatever for the cabinet's action and would decline to vote among other things for a German-Polish trade agreement and also for many sections of the financial program.

His party continued to object, he said, to the presence of Doctors Cui-pers and Wirth in the cabinet and asserted the new government had been formed "by misusing the name and authority of the Reich's president."

MAYO DOCTOR CALLED TO MIAMI BEACH FOR ROCKNE

Chicago—(CP)—Dr. C. J. Barlow, head of the Mayo Clinic at Williamstown, Minn., arrived on a Northwest Alta plane at 12:20 p. m. today enroute to consult with physicians attending Knute Rockne at Miami.
He continued his journey on the Illinois Central railroad, leaving here
at 2:45 p. m.

Miami Beach—(CP)—Knute Rockne, Notre Dame football coach, sent for Dr. C. J. Barlow of the Mayo Clinic at Rochester, Minn., to come here to give him a general examination following a period of recupera-tion from illness here, it is learned today.

A maid at the Rockne apartment,
the only member of the household at home at noon today, said over the telephone that Mr. Rockne was ill, but that she was not allowed to give out information regarding him. Mrs.
Rockne, she said, was not at home,
but would return later in the day.

The clerk at the hotel apartment
where the Rocknes have stayed since arrival here early in the winter season also said that the football mentor was ill, but referred other queries to Mrs. Rockne.

IDENTIFY DEAD MAN IN INSURANCE PLOT

Bentonville, Ark.—(CP)—Mrs. Maud
Pearman and her two children today identified the body of a man in a men's coat at Gravette, near here, as William Robert Pearman, their husband and father, who had been missing from their home at Columbia, Mo., since March 21. Pearman is believed by officers to have been in a plot to collect $200,000 life insurance which he allegedly took out while posing as another man.

ROAD CLEARED FOR 3-POWER ARMS TREATY

America and Britain
Accept Reservations
Made by Japanese

BULLETIN

Paris—(CP)—Premier Tardieu
was taken suddenly ill at a committee meeting today and had to be assisted to his automobile and taken to his hotel.

London—(CP)—After ten weeks of difficult negotiations, during which obstacles often were encountered
that seemed insurmountable, the naval conference this afternoon was recorded in American, British and Japanese circles as having achieved great success.

This position was reached after a conference this morning when the Americans and British accepted the Japanese government's reservations to the American-British naval proposals.

Thus was assured at least a powerful three-power agreement as an outcome of the conference, even if France and Italy could not participate.

In this connection observers were much interested in a statement made this afternoon by A. V. Alexander, first lord of the British admiralty speaking at Brixton, Mr. Alexander said:

"This week the conference is much more hopeful than it was a little time ago."

MAKE BID TO ITALY

Italy has been asked to join Great Britain and France in a mutual security arrangement affecting the Mediterranean, it became known today. Neville Chamberlain, British and Aristide Briand, French foreign secretary, continued their negotiations regarding the extent to which Great Britain will guarantee France against aggression.

Despite some indications of further difficulties for the five power naval conference, Colonel Stimson, head of the American delegation, said:

"The situation is much improved since last week and I am much more optimistic of a five-power agreement
now than I was at that time."

Some conference observers saw in the invitation to Italy to join in the Mediterranean security arrangement
a jockeying by the French for a position from which it might be suggested to Italy that since everybody's security was guaranteed, the Mussolini government might abandon its claim for naval parity with France.

Behind all the talk of a security arrangement there has been run a current of speculation as to the extent of reductions in the French naval program which M. Briand will make in return. If his answer was to be found in published statements credited to him today, there - some observers saw considerable matter
negotiation before a five power limit
tation pact is reached.

PROTEST IN TOKIO

Tokio—(CP)—Today the members of the famous "Black Dragon society"
and other nationalistic organizations held an open air demonstration against the Japanese cabinet's acceptance of the London naval formula. A mob in Shiba park today.

Although today was a national holiday, being the anniversary of the death of Japan's legendary first emperor, Jimmu Tennu, and the spring season provided the ideal time for a demonstration of about 2,000 men, the protest was relatively small.

The meeting passed resolutions vigorously criticizing the government's decision, which the speaker excited as a humiliating act in the face of means of national defense
in the face of American demand.

LILA JIMSONER GUILTY UNDER REDUCED CHARGE

Buffalo, N. Y.—(CP)—Lila Jimsoner, the "Red Lila" of the Chicago Indians, this afternoon pleaded guilty
in a hospital room which today became a court room, to a reduced charge of murder, second degree, in connection with the slaying of Mrs.
Clotilde Marchand, wife of Henri Marchand, widely known artist.

FAIL TO AGREE ON DRY LAW PROPOSALS

Washington—(CP)—The house judiciary committee failed to agree today on prohibition proposals of the Hoover Law Enforcement commission and deferred action until next Wednesday, when a decision on whether they will be approved is planned.

JOINT GROUP TAKES UP RATES IN TARIFF

Washington—(CP)—The congressional conference on tariff bill organized for their initial session today
and decided to consider first the hundreds of differences between the senate and house on rates.

KOHLER ACTS ON PETITION OF CONNERS

Special Counsel to Be Named Later in Cases of Dammann, Reynolds

HUBER CASE IN DANE-CO
Three Accused State Officials to Be Tried in Their Own Counties

Madison—(CP)—Gov. Walter J.
Kohler today announced the appointment of Theodore W. Brazeau of Wisconsin Rapids, and Carl N.
Hill of Madison, as special state's counsel to conduct court proceedings against Lieut. Gov. Henry A.
Huber who has been accused of violating the corrupt practices act.

A verified petition for leave to bring ouster proceedings against the lieutenant governor, the secretary of state, Theodore Dam-mann and the attorney general, John W. Reynolds, was filed with the governor by Randolph L. Conners, Madison attorney, on Feb. 25.

The petition alleges violations of the corrupt practices act by the state officers during their 1923
primary campaign.

"It appears from the petition and otherwise," Governor Kohler said today, "that there were violations of the act on the part of these candidates, their campaign committees or members of such committees, and that, in the language of the statute,
"sufficient evidence is obtainable to show that there is probable cause to believe that such proceeding may be successfully maintained."

"Therefore, in accordance with the duty imposed upon the governor by the statute, I am granting leave to bring a proceeding in the name of the state of Wisconsin to the petition of Randolph L. Conners to investigate and determine whether the candidates, their personal campaign committees are members thereof, have violated any provisions of the corrupt practices act."

Soviet Announces New Policy On Farm Movement

PEASANTS GET CONCESSIONS FROM STALIN

Debts Payments Delayed and Special Tax Exemptions Granted Farmers

Moscow—(P)—The government today announced a number of sweeping concessions to peasant movement loyal to the farm movement or return to the collective farms following the recent exodus which resulted from the new policy to appease them.

The privileges, which are intended to save the government's monumental agricultural collectivization scheme from any possibility of failure, include:

1. Exemption from taxation for a period of two years, of all cattle, horses, hogs and poultry belonging both to individual farmers and members of the collective farms.

2. Postponement until the end of the harvest of all outstanding debts of collective farmers.

3. Cancellation of all fines and court judgments imposed upon such farmers before April 1, for failure to carry out the government's agricultural plans.

4. Extension of credit by the government of 500,000,000 rubles (about $250,000,000) to the collective farmers.

Government officials are forbidden under this decree from levying forcible contributions upon peasants for the purchase of tractors, from obliging peasants to deposit money in savings banks against their wish, and from depriving members of the collective farms who go to the cities for seasonal work of a larger percentage of their earnings than is provided by law.

No such far-reaching concessions have been made to the peasantry in the 13 years of the revolution, and they are considered here to mark a milestone in communistic policy. Whether the changes are only temporary expedients to check the present withdrawal of peasants from the collective farms, or are a permanent means of fortifying the government, has not been indicated.

STALIN IN PAPERS

Coincident with these changes in policy, Joseph Stalin, head of the Communist party, occupies the entire front page of Soviet newspapers today in explaining the government's recent abrupt turn in carrying out its agricultural plans.

He insists that the change in policy does not constitute retreat but simply involves the correcting of mistakes and excesses committed by over-zealous government and party officials who were "drunk with the success" of the collectivization movement.

Admitting that great numbers of peasants already have deserted the collective farms, Stalin declares that collectivization achieves 43 per cent of the peasant households, instead of the 60 per cent figures previously set, the government by this spring will have exceeded by 50 per cent the estimates of the five year plan of collectivization.

Stalin then enumerates the new concessions extending members of the collective farms and declares that collectivization is the only means of saving the peasants from poverty and misery. He characterizes those farmers who do not abandon the collectives as "heretics" and warns that any peasants who leave these farms in the future will forfeit all privileges granted under the recent decrees.

At the same time he renews war upon the Kulaks (rich peasants), whom he characterizes as "enemies of government, bloodsuckers, spiders and vipers who live only to exploit others and who, in their fury against the government, are fire to the collective farms, murdering farm officials and attempting to destroy the government's sowing campaign."

CHIMNEY FIRES

The fire department was called to two chimney fires Thursday morning. No damage resulted in either case. The calls were from the residence of Mrs. Helen Zimmer, 1164 W. College-ave, at 9:20; and from the residence of Peter Lauri, 609 W. Wisconsin-ave, at 9:45.

BUILDING COMMITTEE WILL MEET FRIDAY

The county board sanatorium building committee will meet Friday afternoon at the courthouse to allow bills on the construction work now being done on the Riverview sanatorium at Little Chute. After the disposition of routine business, the committee will go to the sanatorium to make an inspection of the building and determine how the work is progressing. The contractors hope to have all the work completed before the county board begins its spring session on April 15. It is hoped the board will be able to visit the institution in a body.

COMMITTEE OF 70 INDORSES GRUNDY RACE FOR SENATE

Also Urges Pennsylvania Voters to Support Pinchot for Governor

Philadelphia—(P)—The committee of seventy, whose avowed objective is purity of the ballot, was engaged actively in the political campaign today with the announcement of Thomas Raeburn White, chairman, that it urged the voters to support Joseph R. Grundy for United States senator and Gifford Pinchot for governor.

At the same time, the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment asserted through its secretary, William Morse, that the prohibition question would be the dominant issue in the May 20 primary.

In urging support of a Grundy-Pinchot ticket, White charged the Philadelphia Republican organization with seeking to extend its power throughout the state.

"It is an affront to the people of Pennsylvania," White declared, "that this organization should seek to extend its power over the state."

Pinchot, who is running for governor independently, has made no comment thus far as to the suggestion that he unite with Grundy on a ticket against Secretary of Labor James J. Davis for senator and Francis Shunk Brown for governor.

Before the White statement was issued, however, Pinchot trained his guns on Brown, organization candidate, charging him with failure to make known his position on various issues, particularly that of prohibition.

In reply Brown said the voters would be advised in plenty of time of his stand.

The Association Against Prohibition, with three headquarters already functioning here, announced that branches would be established in all wards and counties of the state.

Announcement came from Harrisburg yesterday that representatives of labor in conference there had declined for the present to endorse a state ticket and that they were opposed to the nomination of Senator Grundy.

Word also came from the capital that Governor Fisher would support the candidacy of the senator. "My appointment of Mr. Grundy to the senate and my speech at the testimonial dinner tendered him after his appointment, should be evidence of my position," the executive said.

WOULD ISSUE 225 MILLIONS IN RAIL BONDS

Major Roads Propose to Use Large Portion of Fund for New Program

Washington—(P)—Major railroads of the nation have asked permission from the Interstate Commerce commission within the last month to issue more than $225,000,000 in bonds many millions of which will be used in carrying through the 1930 $1,050,000,000 construction and equipment program reported to President Hoover.

In March of last year applications to the commission for approval of financing amounted to only $96,553,000.

Willingness to take advantage of the lower money rates and the improvement in the bond market became apparent early in February.

Since then the upturn has been marked, with a steady stream of applications pouring into the commission and reaching the peak last month.

Though considerable part of the proceeds from the bonds is to be used for refunding maturing issues and other corporate purposes, a large percentage is to go toward the purchase of new equipment and improvements to the roads. Of the huge expenditures of which the president was informed during his bustness conference last December, $190,000,000 was planned for expenditure in the first six months of the year.

$140,000,000 more than was expended during the first half of 1929. Approval of the bond issues is expected to permit this work to go forward with increased stimulus.

The greater percentage of interest rates on the proposed issues and those already authorized are fixed at 4 1/2 and 5 per cent.

In the latter days of March the Erie railroad was permitted to issue $70,000,000 in bonds, the Pennsylvania railroad $60,000,000, the Baltimore and Ohio $15,000,000, the St. Louis and San Francisco railway, $8,085,000 in equipment trust certificates and the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific $4,260,000.

Applications were presented by the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific to issue $15,000,000 in bonds, the Wabash to issue $15,000,000, the Nickel Plate $12,000,000, the Virginian $3,795,000, the Missouri Pacific

UNCLE SAM BEGINS TO COUNT FAMILY

Hopes to Complete Work Among 6,000,000 New Yorkers in Two Weeks

Special Dispatch to Post-Crescent New York—(CFA)—Uncle Sam began Wednesday the business of counting his family. And in two weeks' time, he expects to have counted the 6,000,000 odd people who live in greater New York—and not only to have counted them but to have discovered how old each one is, whether he owns his own home, whether he went to work yesterday and whether he has a radio.

In New York city most of the enumerators are snappily gotten up young ladies, who will get four cents for every man, woman or child she counts, with two cents extra for every unemployed, blind, deaf or dumb person.

George Jesse, who has charge of the census for what is probably the most densely populated section of any city in the world, not only thinks that young women are a bit more careful in asking questions but that they usually make the best and fastest enumerators.

The census this year is a bit more detailed than it has ever been before. One reason for this is that the government wants to check up on the national prosperity one hears so much about.

A number of eager young women

$25,000,000 and the Boston and Maine $15,000,000.

Since the trend back toward resumption of normal financing started, the Pere Marquette has received authorization to issue $14,000,000 in bonds, the Louisville and Nashville $15,000,000, the Southern $20,000,000, and the Chicago, Rock Island and Gulf $5,000,000.

Six Students Have Won More Than One Prize In Post-Crescent's Idea Contest

Tomorrow another list of prize winners will appear in the Appleton Post-Crescent's On to Washington contest.

Boys and girls of the rural and parochial schools of the county, watch for Friday's paper. Your name may be among those receiving one of the bright shiny half dollars which the Post-Crescent is distributing among the rural school boys and girls.

Fifty-six prizes already have been wanted census jobs in districts where the great and near-great live. One asked shyly if she might have a job either in Rudy Vallee's section or in some zone where she would meet screen stars or famous theatrical people.

At four cents a head, the job of counting New Yorkers will cost the government about $240,000, not counting the extras for the unemployed and blind, deaf and dumb, nor the "overhead" for tabulation, clerical work and so on.

distributed and there are many more to come. Six boys and girls have received more than one prize—which proves that the contest not only is easy but that that graduation trip fund can be swelled with prize money if you keep on trying.

Dorothy Olsen, Shiocton, and Carmen Elsch, Seymour, each have won three prizes. This means these girls have received $1.50 each for their Washington trip funds. Both of the girls have submitted more than 30 ideas—and perhaps they are slated to win more prizes. They have proved that the contest is an easy one. If they can win—why can't you?

Four students already have received two prizes each. They are: Evelyn Geniesse, Black Creek, Dorothy Vanden Heuvel, Kimberly, Alice Wolf, route 5, Kaukauna, and Roy Colson, Shiocton.

It's a peculiar fact, but nevertheless a true one, that the girls are winning more prizes than the boys. The contest editor wonders why this is true. Are the girls working harder than the boys or do they have better ideas?

Come on, boys, let's get going and capture some more of these half dollars. Get busy tonight and write to the contest editor. Tell him how you are earning your money for the Washington trip. Don't delay. Write that letter now.

2 DIPHTHERIA CASES READY FOR RELEASE

The two cases of diphtheria in the city will be released from quarantine this week, states Dr. F. P. Dohearty, city physician. The contagion situation in Appleton is improving, he reported.

"There still are a great many cases of measles, mumps and chicken pox among school children," said Dr. Dohearty, "but the school nurses have these well under control. Most of the contagion among children is pretty well scattered throughout the various schools."

A CAPPELLO CHOIR COMING HERE TO SING IN CONCERT

Appleton Lutherans Sponsor
Entertainment at Chapel
on April 21

The Lutheran A Cappella Choir of the Tri-Cities, Rock Island, Moline, Ill. and Davenport, Iowa, which has been acclaimed by many critics as one of the greatest choruses of its kind, has been secured by the Lutherans of Appleton to give a concert in Lawrence Memorial Chapel on Monday evening, April 21.

This choir of forty-five voices presents the richest sacred music, singing in eight parts and without accompaniment.

The entire program will consist of purely sacred gems of song which have arisen to satisfy the demands of unaccompanied ensemble singing since it originated in the fifteenth century. Every age has left its masterpieces and the Lutheran A Cappella Choir includes in its repertoire the classics of each period.

The choir has made several successful concert tours since its organization in 1921. It has appeared in Orchestra Hall, Chicago and in other large metropolitan auditoriums where only the best musical presentations are heard.

Karlton Hackett of the Chicago Evening Post praised the organization in saying: "This choir is an excellently trained body of singers. They have the spirit of a cappella singing and they also have sincere appreciation for the meaning of the text. Their singing had character. Their soft effects were lovely in tone quality and always expressive of the meaning of the words."

The La Crosse Tribune, Rudolf Kylvie, critic, writes: "One thrill followed close upon the heels of another—and it was the singing itself, not any elaborate costumes or other stage effects, that was so delightful. One might have closed his eyes and imagined the music coming from a fine organ under the deft hands of a master."

The personnel of The Lutheran A Cappella Choir is drawn from Rock Island and Moline, Illinois and Davenport, Iowa, and from the Augustana College and Theological Seminary student body.

CATLIN IN CHORUS OF HARESFOOT PLAY COMING TO VALLEY

University of Wisconsin Players Present Production at Menasha

With Mark Catlin, Appleton, taking a leading part in the chorus, and Vernon Hamel, Oshkosh, playing as Patsy, the alimony seeking divorcee, the Haresfoot club of the University of Wisconsin has polished off its production of "Button, Button" which will appear in Menasha April 7 at the Brin theater following the opening in Oshkosh April 2.

For six weeks the entire company of 35 people has been working together to weld the different departments into one solid unit and climaxed the preparation last week with the dress rehearsal in which all the rough spots were smoothed over and everything made ready for the appearance before the footlights.

William W. Garstang, Indianapolis, Ind., with William Farnell, director, conducted the tour of inspection of the two Pullmans and the baggage car shaking hands with Bob Sutton, crack porter of the Olympian, who always accompanies the popular University of Wisconsin club on its tour through 13 cities of the middle west. They were informed by the popular negro who has become a tradition on the trip that everything was "puffed."

The entire production has been made by students. The company of 35 includes the three choruses, showgirls, pony ballet, and male, three principal actors, the costume caretakers, the business staff, the publicity staff, and three women, honorary members of Haresfoot, the only women ever admitted to the club and as much a part of it as the most famous leading "lady."

Here's how the people have judged this question of VALUE

Goodyear can give you greater tire values because Goodyear builds more than 1/4 of all the tires sold in America, the remainder being divided among some forty manufacturers. "More people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind."

IN the tire business, as in any other, production has a direct relation to costs.

It happens that Goodyear builds millions more tires than any other manufacturer, which ought to mean something to the man who buys tires.

We think it does: "More people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind!"

We think this single towering fact — not to be overridden by any sales argument, however ingenious—says all that needs be said of Goodyear quality, Goodyear service, Goodyear price.

The next time you need a tire, and seek the most you can get for your money, remember how the people have judged this question of value.

The simplest and safest advice, is for you to do what an overwhelming percentage of your fellow-motorists are doing — go straight to the nearest Goodyear dealer!

A VOICE FOR THE LEAGUE
Ever since the League of Nations was organized we have, despite our refusal of membership and the sarcasm and denunciation heaped upon it by our politicians, been making friendly gestures toward it. Most of these have been forced upon us it is true, and all perhaps have been dictated by self-interest, but we have gradually become more accustomed to dealing with the League and taking a part directly or indirectly in its activities. Every president has been compelled to recognize the existence of the League and to work with it. Today we are extending it the fullest cooperation commensurate with our status as a non-member. The other day Frank B. Kellogg, lately secretary of state and author of the anti-war treaties that bear his name, made a speech in behalf of the League of Nations which has caused general comment. It should not, however, occasion surprise. Mr. Kellogg has been a consistent friend of the League ever since its formation. In fact, he was one of the group which favored American entry with reservations. Now that he is out of the department of state, Mr. Kellogg is free to discuss international affairs as he really views them. He brought out some revealing facts about the League, among which was the information that the United States has sent regular delegates to 22 League conferences, the expenses of many of which congress defrayed. In addition to this we have sent unofficial delegates in an advisory capacity to 20 other conferences, making a total of 42 in all. Thus we have been acting and cooperating with the League during all of the time it has been in existence, and this while our presidents were careful to point out that we would have nothing to do with the League and considered it an exclusively European institution. At least one of our presidents went so far in his appeasement of the irreconcilables as to confidently predict that the League could not possibly live, while many of his political coadjutors again and again celebrated its demise with funeral orations. Former Secretary Kellogg paid a tribute to the League which cannot fail to impress informed and candid Americans with the fact that it already has made an enormous contribution to the peace and well-being of the world and that it is the one agency today that constitutes a medium of open diplomacy and that offers the prospect of substituting international cooperation for international suspicion and hostility. To abandon the League now would be to go back 50 years, yes, a hundred years, in the world's progress. It is not perfected yet, but it will be in time. Already changes in the covenant are being made or advocated to bring it in harmony with the anti-war treaties and to make its influence for good more powerful. Mr. Kellogg's discussion of the League was something more than the friendly gestures that have emanated from officials at Washington. Its significance was of more importance than the average person will attribute to it on first impression. When men come to occupy places of high responsibility and their international contacts become real, they discard their petty and prejudiced viewpoints and look at world problems in a saner and more intelligent manner. Not that Mr. Kellogg has undergone this change, for he has for many years had a broad prospect of international affairs, but there are politicians whose partisanship and narrowness give way when they come to see facts as such and not as illusions on coming into positions of high trust. We have no doubt that Mr. Kellogg's opinions regarding the League are the same as those of Mr. Hoover. It is too soon, however, for our presidents to openly approve the League and advocate closer cooperation by the United States. But the day will come when this will occur and it may not be so far distant at that. In fact, it is not at all impossible that during the next generation the deeply working forces which are making over the world politically may lead us into membership. Mr. Kellogg's address may be distinctly regarded as a sign of the times.

CHANCE FOR PENNSYLVANIA
Pennsylvania is about to stage a political show worth national attention. It is going to be an exceedingly interesting commentary on public intelligence and discrimination. The contest between Jos. R. Grundy, appointed senator to fill the vacancy caused by the senate's refusal to seat W. S. Vare, and James J. Davis, secretary of labor in the Hoover cabinet, for the Pennsylvania senatorship will be a dramatic event. Already the powers that be are girding for the fray. Mr. Grundy has broken with the Vare machine in Philadelphia and is running as a sort of lone wolf. It is unthinkable that Mr. Davis will accept an alliance with the Vare machine and yet he may be the beneficiary of its influence despite itself. It appears to be a case of not loving Davis more but Grundy less. It is of course possible that the Vare machine may bring out a candidate of its own.

Mr. Grundy represents the extreme perfection of special interest government at Washington. He is frankly for giving the manufacturing interests of his state everything they want and of favoring legislation and administrative policies which contribute to their enrichment. He defends it on the ground that what is good for them is good for the state of Pennsylvania. He is not an economist interested in protection based on the difference in producing costs or in the rights of the consumer as against those of the producer. He believes in the potency of money in politics and government as well as in private affairs. He was one of the most effective lobbyists that ever did business in Washington. He may not champion corruption but his theories of government and policies are such that carried to their logical ends represent the utmost in depravity, subsidy and graft.

Opposing him is a man of clean record, a member of the executive branch of the government at Washington, and one who enjoys the confidence and esteem of the president. Mr. Hoover's willingness to retain Mr. Davis in the cabinet during the contest is evidence enough that he favors his candidacy over that of Mr. Grundy. It is not unlikely that he has encouraged Mr. Davis in his courageous undertaking. No more striking contrast could be found than in these opposing contestants for the senate. We take it for granted that the better citizens of every state in the Union will hope to see Grundy defeated and Davis elected, but that is by no means assured. The people of Pennsylvania are too close to the scene of battle, too confirmed in their prejudices, too much aroused in their emotions, to get a clear perspective of what it is all about.

The resourcefulness of politicians like Mr. Grundy is very great and combined with it is an unlimited amount of money. It is a combination that easily beguiles and stampedes the public. Moreover, money is spent in Pennsylvania "effectively", and machines are a past master in the art of using it. They know how to deliver the goods. Nevertheless, every citizen in Pennsylvania is presumably a free moral agent and can vote as he or she desires. The verdict will represent the capacity of the people of that state to differentiate between what is false and sound, what is constructive and destructive, what is good and what is evil.

The Post-Mortem

ONE OF the hardest things in a columnist's life is to open up a column the day after the night before. Yesterday, as this was written, is a classic example. We've been threatened with murder if we mention the election again, and we don't blame our threateners. So that's that. Anyway, we've started.

Today's Anniversary

FIRST PONY EXPRESS
On April 3, 1880, the first pony express riders left Sacramento, Calif., for St. Louis, Mo., to establish a fast mail service between the Pacific coast and the middle west. The service was inaugurated in an effort to reduce the 22 days time it took the transcontinental lines to carry mails from the east to the far west by way of the Panama canal.

The animals used on the "express" were not ponies but fleet horses. They were stationed at "stages" from 10 to 15 miles apart and each rider rode three animals successively, covering about 75 miles before he passed the pouch to his successor. Eventually there were 80 riders and between 400 and 500 horses.

The fastest trip was made for the delivery of President Lincoln's inaugural address the distance of 1,400 miles being covered in 7 days and 17 hours.

Just 16 months after it was started, the pony express was supplanted by a telegraph line. But despite a brief existence, the service has won a name for itself in American history because it maintained its schedule in all kinds of weather and in face of Indian hostilities.

WHEN YOUR NEIGHBOR HAS DIPHTHERIA
I remember how we kids only 40 years ago, but on speed as we passed by on the other side of the street from the house with the diptheria placard on the door, and we were pretty careful to hold our breaths for the 0.7 seconds it took us to get by. Yes, and I remember peeking out and watching the good doctor throwing off the virus after he had visited the patient; he would stand in the middle of the desert street, in his fur coat, swinging his arms and dusting his cap for many minutes before getting into his sleigh to continue his rounds. Remember, antitoxin had not come into use at that time. The doctor had children of his own and he was naturally fearful of carrying the disease to them. Fifteen years later I was a doctor myself, had an occasional diptheria case, and an occasional kid of my own. I never worried an instant about the possibility of carrying diptheria home to my own children. Didn't believe I could carry it unless I first caught it myself or happened to be what we now call a "carrier." For it is pretty generally conceded that vermin-excluded, no known disease is carried in or by clothing, the hair, papers, books, money and the like. We know that even the most contagious of the communicable diseases are not carried from person to person in any of these things clearly or not, it is certain that unintelligent folk today do not worry much about a case of diptheria in the neighborhood, as long as they are satisfied there has been no intimate personal contact with the patient in the incubation stage, or since the onset of the illness.

The old soaks, social snubbers and lovers of a little lick, always believed that a mouthful, or preferably several mouthfuls in succession, fortified one against taking in any diptheria microbes, to mention only one worthy excuse. Today, good lick or being scarce, there are various remedies that purport to shoo off germs in much the same manner, but thank goodness we no longer feel it necessary to hold our breath when hurrying past the abode of communicable disease, since we have exonerated the air of the charge of spreading pestilence.

We know precisely how diptheria spreads. It spreads as ordinary sore throat or simple coryza or the measles does, in the nose and throat secretions, usually in the form of spray given off during coughing, sneezing or conversation. The range of this germ-laden spray is ten or twelve feet in open face sneezing or coughing; not more than five feet in quiet conversation; the spray is stopped absolutely by a mask or screen of not less than 10 layers of gauze or cheesecloth of 23 threads to the inch mesh. Either the patient, or the nurse, doctor, visitor or innocent bystander may wear the mask over nose and mouth; or a suitable screen may be set up between them.

That sort of protection is all right when the infectious character of the case is known, suspected or frankly acknowledged. It can be of no use if the infectiousness of the case is not avowed—and it isn't in many cases of diptheria; at least not until much damage has been done.

Wherever a diptheria outbreak occurs the health authorities properly suspect every person who has been exposed or associated with the victim, and especially those who have running nose, particularly a one-sided nasal discharge, as "carriers."

A BYSTANDER IN WASHINGTON

By HERBERT PLUMMER
Washington — From the banks of the Rapidan comes new evidence of man's tendency to capitalize on his fame—this time in the person of Ray Burraker, the 12-year-old mountain lad who gave a "possum to the President of the United States."

Stories of the shrewdness of Ray have filtered down from the mountain country of Virginia into Washington.

This alert, fearless, young chap, who wears "store bought" clothes and a bow tie since his widely heralded visit to President Hoover's fishing camp that Sunday morning, is not averse to a whit by the place he has attained. Instead, in a cool and calculating manner he is out to make the most of it.

Quick was he to seize the fact that his picture had "news value." So now when photographers swarmed around for him to pose, he demanded $1. Nor would he permit more than one photographer to snap him at a time.

SHARP LAD
Another source of income for the young mountaineer was a broken gate at the entrance to the grounds of the school which President Hoover built for the mountain children.

The contractor who built the school was in the habit of giving Ray a nickel for holding the gate open for him each day. When newspapermen, photographers and other visitors to the school, Ray exacted a toll of five cents. However, the gate has been repaired now and this source of income is lost to him.

He talks to newspapermen with an amazing ease and fearlessness. His reply to a query from one of them if he thought he would like his school teacher was:

"I don't think that is any of your business."

Ray evidently inherits much of his astuteness from 69-year old Grandpa Burraker. Grandpa admitted to newspapermen that the day the school opened, that he didn't come any the mountain for the school opening particularly.

"I thought President Hoover would be here," he said, "and I wanted to have a few words with him."

Grandpa also said the school was a good idea "if it is run right," and was asked what he meant by the expression "run right?" Grandpa, who has never before seen the inside of a school, looked his questioners straight in the eye, and replied:

"Aw, you know what I mean."

SECOND IN COMMAND
George Burraker, Ray's younger brother, nine years old, is overshadowed by the more famous members of the family, but is none the less interesting.

The little fellow, dressed in an old pair of overalls, backed squarely up to the flag pole when the newspapermen arrived, and with a broad grin on his face talked freely.

"What's that in your pocket, George," someone asked, pointing to a bulge in his overalls.

"Backer," he replied, and brought forth for inspection a large package of chewing and smoking tobacco mixed in a conglomerate mass.

He was a great source of information until Ray came forward and usurped the role of spokesman.

The Tynmites
By Hal Cochran

THE plane kept sailing through the air and didn't bring a single scare to any of the Tynmites. They all felt safe and sound. Across the English Channel they were now upon their merry way. It gave each one a thrill to know that they were Paris-bound.

Soon, to the pilot, Scouty cried, "Say! Just where will this ride? I know we'll go to gay Paris, but where will we all land? This is the first trip we have made to Paris and I am afraid they'll ask lots of questions. It all seems mighty grand."

The Travel Man then said: "Say boys, the airplane's making too much noise for you to understand what anybody says up here. Let's all be still for just a while. We're speeding now, mile after mile. We've traveled quite a distance and the trip's end must be near."

And, sure enough, the plane nosed down and headed slowly toward the ground. "We're going to land! We're going to land," cried Scouty, full of cheer. "The landing field is just below. Just watch us now. 'Cause here we go! Oh, I am really thrilled and gee, but I am glad we're here."

And then they drifted to the ground. The big plane took one sudden bound and drifted to a standstill. "Here we are," the pilot cried. "This is Le Bourget Field, you see, and it got notorious when Lindbergh landed here to end his New York-Paris ride."

They left the plane and looked around and every single Tynmy found that it was interesting. Then they found a taxi near The Travel Man said, "Hop inside. To Paris we will

A GOOD CAMPAIGN
Editor Post-Crescent—Congratulations and best wishes to the aldermanic group! We all like you—don't we?—and especially when our conscience does not accuse us.

Personally, I believe the aldering of the dirty linen was good for the aldermanic group. I believe there was a little fire beneath all that smoke. I believe the group have had their lesson.

The administration they are going to give us now will be the best in the history of the city of Appleton. Watch now and see.

Personally again, I am grateful to the Post-Crescent and the managerial group for the interest and enthusiasm they put into the election. Who of us can remember the polls being so crowded at 8 p. m. that voters were turned away, as they were last Tuesday? It shows what the people of Appleton can do and will do when there is a real issue at stake.

Now folks, lets back the new administration to a man and lets see what we will see.

And Mr. Mayor, you pitch the ball right across the home plate, and don't let the "bleachers" worry you.

Mrs. John R. E. Miller

BALLARD GRATEFUL
Editor Post-Crescent—May I extend in this letter my deep appreciation and thanks to my many loyal supporters in the Town of Grand Chute; many of them were strangers. I often wonder how it is that the "same" man can find people ready to swear that he is square and right, and others who are willing to testify that he is just no good and a crook. However, such is life and the world.

If I have enlightened the taxpayers of this county regarding its financial condition and the scandalous manner in which the taxpayers' money has been handed out to fairs, pet stock shows, etc., increasing salaries of public officials, organizing vigilance committees to protect banks, etc., I feel well repaid.

If the publicity I have tried to give to the public to try and reduce our debt and stop some of this interest which we are now paying, I am satisfied. If we were as far ahead financially as we are behind, what a fine thing it would be. I know we are all interested in the home, the farm, the business, an honest administration of the public business; equal rights to all and special privileges to none.

Respectfully submitted,

WALL STREET CRASH AND PIRATES HIT PARIS DESIGNERS

American Buyers Hold Down Expenses and Business Complaints Follow

BY MINOTT SAUNDERS
Paris—With American buyers holding down on expenses, and fashion pirates busier than ever, this has been a lean season for the celebrated couturiers of Paris. Complaints about business are widespread.

The slump in the American trade has been attributed to the effects of the recent stock market collapse. Veteran buyers representing large American houses came this year with a much smaller budget than in seasons past. One prominent dressmaker has estimated that this season he only sold one-fifth as many gowns for export to America as ordinarily. The conclusion in the trade here is that American houses feared there would be a greatly decreased demand for luxury articles.

GERMAN REPARATION?
Disappointment in the American market was, however, somewhat softened by a marked increase in sales to continental buyers, particularly German. The German representatives bought freely and chose expensive models, indicating a greater demand for French clothes than has existed since the war.

Some idea of the activity of pirate copyists was given by the police when it was announced that in a raid on one Paris firm 500 models were seized. They were in the form of unbleached cotton goods, the spoils of sorties in prominent houses. Sketches and documents were also taken for inquiry and prosecution.

Another satisfaction to the couturiers is that they have at last won a smashing victory over copyists. The 12th Correctional Court here awarded four fashion houses damages of 1,000,000 francs in their suit against two firms that had reproduced about 100 of the models. This is the highest fine imposed for copying couture productions since the law went into effect in 1793. In this latest case it was proven that a woman dressmaker smuggled patterns out of the house in sections,

Entire Nation Waits For Decision In Dry Law Case

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington—Millions of Americans will soon be tossed into the criminal class by the federal government if the supreme court can be persuaded to agree.

The supreme court has promised at least to listen to argument and consider the idea. On April 23 the government will undertake to persuade it that the purchase of liquor is a violation of the Volstead act and consequently punishable. The government is trying to show this after 10 years of prohibition during which the liquor buyer has not been legally liable to prosecution.

The attempt is being made in two different cases, each of which is being appealed from a lower court which decided in favor of the defendant. In neither case was it denied that the defendant had bought from a bootlegger.

The defendants, who in effect are standing in the place of no one, know how many purchasers of liquor in this country are Alfred E. Norris of New York and James E. Farrar of Watertown, Mass. It is not contended that there was anything especially heinous in the way they bought their liquor. They are just a couple of private citizens who never realized that they were to be the goats in what is perhaps the most important and far-reaching test case fought out under the prohibition law.

The government contends that Norris is guilty of conspiracy to violate the Volstead act because he telephoned a Philadelphia bootlegger and arranged for a shipment of liquor. He is alleged to be equally guilty with the seller because the liquor was transported as a result of the alleged conspiracy.

The circuit court of appeals in Philadelphia didn't see it that way. Norris had been fined $200 in a federal district court on the conspiracy charge. So had the bootlegger. The bootlegger paid, but Norris appealed. And the circuit court held that "a sale of liquor involving such transportation as is necessary to effect delivery to the purchaser does not subject the purchaser and seller to indictment for conspiracy to transport." The attempt to show conspiracy, the court said, disregarded the obvious intention of Congress in passing the act to exempt the buyer from the penal provisions.

Solicitor General Charles Evans Hughes, Jr., presenting the government's brief to the supreme court, pointed out that in the Norris case the question of whether purchase of liquor was criminal was not involved, but that in any event there was nothing to give immunity to a man guilty of conspiracy.

The Farrar case is a straight-out test of whether the buyer as such is equally guilty with the seller. Farrar was indicted in Boston for violation of the Volstead act by purchase of prohibited liquor. Federal Judge James M. Morton quashed the indictment and the Department of Justice decided to appeal the decision in order to settle the issue.

Judge Morton held that if Congress had meant to impose penalties on liquor buyers it would have done

9 PERMITS NEEDED TODAY BEFORE YOU CAN BUILD HOUSE

The days when Neighbor Brown could walk into the wood of Virginia timber behind the house, fell enough trees to build a house, and erect his new domicile in any corner of his "lot" are gone, everyone agrees, but few people (except those who have recently come through the ordeal) are aware of the present day intricacies of constructing a new building.

Nine permits must be signed on the dotted line before a newly built house can be occupied. Before operations begin a building permit must be secured from the building inspector, and while the building is under construction, water, sewer, plumbing, electrical, heating, and sidewalk permits must be obtained. The contractor must shut off traffic on the street where the building is being erected a street permit must be secured. Finally, after the building inspector has made a thorough inspection of the new building, a permit of occupancy is issued.

It is uniformly held that statutes prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors are directed against the active selling only," Morton said, "and that the offense is committed only by the vendor or someone who aids him in the selling, and that the purchaser and those who aid him in the purchase are not guilty of aiding or abetting in the commission of the offense."

Nevertheless, there have been conflicts in lower court opinions and the supreme court will now say the last word. Differing opinion is due to the fact that the Volstead act says no one shall sell, transport or buy liquor without a permit, but that its enforcement section lacks any provision of penalty for the buyer. The Anti-Saloon League which wrote the Volstead act purposely omitted the words that would definitely have made the buyer a criminal, but prohibition enforcement officials and their legal experts have held that the buyer's liability to punishment is maintained an open question until judicially decided.

In an effort to avert an expected budget deficit the British Indian government has raised customs duties on cotton piece goods, sugar and kerosene and added silver bullion to dutiable imports.

WE address our remarks to you thrifty gentlemen with good employment records and credit ratings who feel that you must save up to buy the clothes you need. Installments and interest charges have no appeal for you.

Your method is admirable, if a bit tedious. It only requires the application of the Hughes' Ten-Pay-Plan to speed it up and make it more practical. Choose your clothing now, then save up for it. There's the answer to the price problem.

Pick out a Society Brand or Braeburn suit or topcoat. But, instead of putting it away where its value is chiefly ornamental, WEAR it. Get the benefits of being well-dressed when and while you need it. (Which is pretty much all the time, too.)

Buy good clothes as systematically as you save money. Instead of putting a few dollars out of circulation each week until you reach your goal, save in this different and more satisfactory way. Hughes' Ten-Pay-Plan splits up the cost so that you buy your clothes in the same sensible manner in which you save. Hughes' Ten-Pay-Plan costs you nothing.

Read over our appealing rate schedule. Then come in and check our story!

HUNGARY, WITHOUT KING, NOW UNDER REGENCY 10 YEARS

Admiral Nicholas Horthy Retains Full Sway Over Government

BY MILTON BRONNER
London — With speeches, choral song and military reviews, official and reactionary Hungary has celebrated the tenth anniversary of the administration of the greatest chieftain in history—Admiral Nicholas Horthy, the nation's Regent.
In various other kingdoms and empires there have been many regents, but their mission always has been to direct the destinies of state until the heir to the throne reached his majority. But Hungary is the complete paradox. It is a kingdom without anybody to sit on it and a palace without a court. It has a fascinating capital without a financially speaking—much capital. It is ruled by an admiral without a fleet.
By this you may have gathered that Hungary is marking time. It is, but only in the matter of selecting a ruler. Under its monarchical constitution, it could crown anyone chosen—a member of royalty, Admiral Horthy himself, or an ordinary commoner. But just now, the throne can wait.

THREE ASPIRE TO THRONE

There are three claimants. The principal of these is Archduke Otto 18-year-old son of the late Charles and Zita, the last Emperor and Empress of the old Austro-Hungarian empire. There is also Archduke Joseph Francis, son of Archduke Joseph who is now 25; and finally, there is Archduke Albert, son of the enormously rich Archduke Frederick.
Each has his partisans, but the Hungarian powers-that-be are afraid to choose any of them, because they fear what Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia and Rumania might do. Three years ago, Count Bethlen, the well-known perpetual premier, declared in his handpicked parliament that he would not allow the question to be discussed, as he said a king was not to be elected within the next few years. Horthy and Bethlen should continue to function for a good many years.

The whole comic opera situation grows out of the world war and its aftermath. In the break-up of the old monarchy, revolution broke out in Hungary in 1918 and Emperor Charles abdicated. Three days later a provisional republic was set up with Count Michael Karolyi as president. But early in 1919 a Bolshevik government took its place and Karolyi left the country. Finally the Rumanian government sent an army into the country, swept aside the Bolsheviks and restored order.

ENTER THE WHITE TERROR

The Rumanians showed a desire to stay in Budapest, but were ordered by the Allied Powers to leave. As the Rumanians left a White Terror came in and there are still vestiges of packed and manipulated elections, giving the Liberals and Socialists no earthly show.

A new government was set up in February, 1920, and the National Assembly elected Admiral Horthy as Regent. He has lived in the palace in Budapest ever since. Another paradoxical fact is that though Hungary is overwhelmingly Roman Catholic, both Horthy and Bethlen are Catholics.

Horthy was in the Austro-Hungarian navy for 36 years. He was the son of a great landed proprietor and a member of the Hungarian Upper House, sprung from an old Protestant family which obtained its patent of nobility 300 years ago.

A HERO OF WAR

The war found Nicholas Horthy captain of the battleship Hapsburg. Five months later he took command of the light cruiser Novara and when Italy entered the war, fought his first action in a raid on the Italian port of Corsica in 1915. In 1916 he raided Italian and Allied shipping on the Albanian coasts. In May, 1917, he commanded a group of three cruisers, two destroyers and several submarines which raided the Adriatic Barge. His ship, the Novara, bore the brunt of the fighting and Horthy was seriously wounded.

After suppressing the naval mutiny at Cattaro in February, 1918, he was promoted to flag rank and later made Admiral of the Fleet, in which capacity he had the unpleasant duty of surrendering his squadron to the Yugoslavs.

HOLD CLASSES FOR 225 CRIPPLED CHILDREN

Madison—(AP)—Special classes for 225 crippled children were maintained in five Wisconsin cities, according to a report by the crippled children's division of the state department of public instruction. These cities were Milwaukee, La Crosse, Madison, Sheboygan and Kenosha.

According to Miss Margaret Lison, a member of the White House conference committee, there also were classes for 279 other crippled children who were brought from their homes to regular schools.

A physiotherapist is on the staff of each special class to supervise the physical care and development of the child.

Italy's exports to the United States increased 15 per cent in 1929, amounting to $118,147,000.

a skeleton government at Szeged and Horthy was made Minister of War and Commander-in-chief of the army. When the Rumanians left his capital, Horthy entered it with his army and set up the new state. He then was named Regent.

His crucial test came when the late Emperor Charles made his two abortive attempts to regain the throne. Horthy opposed him and won.
Since then, he and Bethlen, while ruling with iron hands, have tried in every way to make the little state sound. It was no easy job, because Hungary lost 68 per cent of its old territory and 59 per cent of its population under the Peace Treaty of Trianon. Czechoslovakia, Rumania and Yugoslavia were all aggrandized at its expense. But Horthy and Bethlen have succeeded in stabilizing Hungary's money and balancing its budget. They also have spent big sums in extending the public school system and a chain of hospitals.

To give permanent record to the celebration of Horthy's tenth year as Regent, the Parliament has ordered that the great new bridge across the Danube shall be called by his name.

Living in the imposing palace of 800 rooms, the Admiral seems contented. After all, a cooked hat may be much more comfortable than a crown.

Neenah And Menasha News

FAVOR INSPECTOR FOR CONSTRUCTION OF STREETS, WALKS

Engagement of Such Official Is Left With Board of Public Works

Neenah—The vote in Tuesday's municipal election was carried Wednesday evening at the monthly meeting of the common council, and the candidates receiving the majority of the votes were declared elected. Those elected were George E. Sande, mayor; Walter Loehning, treasurer; O. W. Smith, assessor; Gustav Kallfahs, John E. Schneller, J. P. Fichman, Henry Schultz and Charles Korotek, supervisors in the First, Second, Third, Fourth and Fifth wards, respectively. Mrs. Helen Kimberly Stuart was elected alderman in the First ward; Robert Marten, alderman in the Second ward; John Stipp, alderman in the Third ward; Edwin Hansen, alderman in the Fourth ward, and Edmond Aylward, alderman in the Fifth ward.

Dangerous condition of the Aylward foundry wall along the walk on the west side of Lake-st. was cited in a petition signed by more than 150 people. After discussion, the matter was referred to the clerk to take up with the state factory inspector for investigation and report.

Frank Kellogg, Jr., city engineer for the past four years, tendered his resignation to take effect April 15. The resignation was unanimously accepted. The committee on streets, highways and bridges recommended advertising for four cars of road oil to be used upon the streets. On motion bids will be received.

The board of public works advised engaging an inspector to assist during the construction of walks, streets and sewers during the summer. The engaging of such assistance was left with the board. The board of public works also reported it would meet at 7 o'clock Tuesday evening at the city hall to hear complaints and objections to assessments against properties abutting streets to be improved and sewers and walks to be constructed under the 1930 improvement program.

The committee on waterworks reported it had received bids for drilling a 600-foot well at the waterworks station and that the bids were rejected after they had been opened and tabulated, as they were too much of a difference in the price. Another set of bids will be received. A petition for electric lights at the Fresh Air camp on the lake shore was referred to the clerk to obtain the cost of installation. A line now extends through the Fresh Air property, connecting cottages along the lake shore, which will make the cost of connecting the building reasonably small.

The matter of hiring a full time man at the city dumping grounds west of the city limits was left in the hands of the street commissioner. Monthly reports of the poor commissioner, police department and justices were presented and referred to the clerk for approval. Bills amounting to $95,002.79 were authorized paid.

The council adjourned until 8 o'clock next Tuesday evening.

WIND UP PLANS FOR RETAIL CONFERENCE

Neenah—Final arrangements are being completed for the two day retail trade conference to be held April 8 and 9 in the twin cities. The movement is sponsored jointly by the vocational school of the two cities and the Neenah-Menasha Home Merchants' association.

The sessions will open at noon Tuesday at the Valley Inn with an address on When Retailer Meets, by Richard E. Ellingwood, followed by an address on Meeting Your Competition, by H. R. Doering. Both men are university extension officials. During the afternoon individual conferences will be conducted at Neenah. The evening session will be held at the high school auditorium. It will open with a short concert by the high school band. Mr. Ellingwood will talk on Selling Behind the Counter and Mr. Doering will talk on Building Up Your Sales.

The Wednesday meetings will be held at Menasha with a noon meeting at Hotel Menasha and the evening session at Butte des Mortes school.

NEENAH WRESTLER WINS FROM SHEBOYGAN MAN

Neenah—Many Neenah wrestling fans saw Clarence Thynner, Neenah, floor Henry Van Lagan, Sheboygan, in two out of three falls Wednesday evening in a match at Winchester hall. The Sheboygan wrestler was successful in the first fall, throwing Thynner in less than 11 minutes, but the Neenah youth came back in the last two falls, flooring his man in 11 minutes and 21 minutes. Thynner used the double cross toe hold.

In the preliminary matches Robert Elmer of Allenville, was thrown by Ben Scherer and Jack O'Brien, Oshkosh, threw Albert Elmer of Allenville, three times in 11 minutes. Jack Joyce of Sheboygan won Saturday night match at the hall on Highway 10 near Reedfield, defeating Thynner of Neenah and the Casco Kid of Casco.

FARM BOARD TALKS TO LOWER ACREAGE OF SPRING WHEAT

Sends Out Representatives into Northwest to Influence Farmers

BY OWEN L. SCOTT
(Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press)
Chicago—(CFA)—Two representatives of the federal farm board were in the northwest today beginning the season's super-selling job—that of talking farmers out of plans to plant 2,000,000 acres of spring wheat.

The northwest growers have indicated that they intend to seed approximately 20,000,000 acres to spring wheat. This is about one million acres under the area planted two years ago, but the farm board, bothered by the surplus problem, would like them to cut their crop to about 18,000,000 acres.

While skepticism is quite general toward the question of success, the salesmen have inducements to offer in return for the suggested sacrifice. They are prepared to finance the seeding of flax, barley, oats, rye, alfalfa or sweet clover.

Whether or not farmers will respond is to depend upon the persuasive abilities of John L. Coulter, chief economist of the tariff commission and James H. Howard, former president of the American Farm Bureau federation and long a farm organizer.

Mr. Coulter is a former president of the North Dakota Agricultural college. He knows the farmers and their psychology as well as their practical problems. It was his idea that if the farmers were convinced of the advantages of other grains and given a practical opportunity to make a change in crops, they would respond. Merely to tell them to stop planting wheat—their easiest and principal source of income—without providing means for substituting other sources of income, naturally could have little effect.

Then, too, the northwest farmer was feeling that the whole burden of restricted planting was being shouldered on him, since no concerted effort was made in the fall to hold down planting of the larger winter wheat crop.

The two farm board emissaries are to lay much stress on flax. This product is bringing high prices, nearly $3 a bushel. But it is a crop that requires rich soil. Usually it is planted in new ground, but in the case of newly broken sections of the northwest where wheat was intended, the substitution of flax would have a marked effect on acreage.

Upon the success of this scheme to sell the farmers out of the wheat planting idea, may depend a good many cents a bushel in the value of wheat during the summer and fall when the crop now getting under way reaches market.

And if successful in the northwest it can be tried in the southwest this coming fall, before winter wheat seeding is started. The farm board is endeavoring to induce farmers to cut down the acreage of heavy surplus crops in order that they may be placed on a domestic price basis, uninfluenced by foreign markets.

The board today was completing arrangements to handle the heavy deliveries expected on May contracts less than one month from now. It hopes to have storage facilities available so that terminal points will not be flooded with the grain which now is in sight.

NEW LINGERIE IN DELICATE COLORS

Springtime Garments of Paris Also Come in Open Work Stitching

BY AILEEN LAMONT

New York—Open work stitching and combinations of two delicate colors characterize the springtime lingerie of Paris. There are such things as sets of pale green silk muslin, with a printed design in faint pink, decked out with pink appliqued bands; or nightgowns of coral crepe de chine, with dozens of vertical pleats running from neck to hem, each pleat lined with pale blue, or lemon yellow crepe de chine night gown, steps and costume slip, heavily inset with lace.

Many fashionable London women have let their hair grow to the stage where it is neither short nor long. They take the surplus out in curls. Two fat curls on the back of the neck are held in place by a jeweled clasp. Or the two fat curls are

Doctor's PRESCRIPTION when system is sluggish; costs nothing to try

When your bowels need help, the mildest thing that will do the work is always the sensible choice. Take a laxative that a family doctor has used for all sorts of cases of chronic constipation. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is so pleasant to the taste, so gentle in its action, it is given children of tender age and yet it is just as thorough and effective as stronger preparations. Pure senna, and harmless laxative herbs ingredients that start a gentle muscular action. Avoid a coated tongue, hidden breath, bilious headaches, etc. Every drug store has Dr. Caldwell's famous prescription in big bottles. Or just write Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, Monticello, Ill., for a free trial bottle.

This is a message that is of vital importance to you—and every other homemaker. It marks the dawn of a new era in the merchandising of home furnishings.

The first step is the inauguration of a number of new policies in selling, that will help you tremendously. It is a forward step, that will place within the reach of all people, distinctive furniture of "known" quality, at a greater dollar for dollar value than we have ever offered—or have been able to offer—before.

Every inch of floor space is now alive with new beauty and new style. Every display is a revelation in home comfort, and Proof Positive that here is furniture bearing a stamp of lasting satisfaction. These new policies will bring to every income the kind of furnishings that will give the whole family a new conception of living. These policies will be a wonderful guide for you in your selections of furniture priced to fit your budget—irregardless of how large or how small it may be.

You will be able to definitely identify values, qualities, periods and styles.

In addition, these policies will enable us, first, to give you a larger variety of merchandise to choose from; second, to give you values far above the price; third, to give you finer designs and better construction; in short, the pick of the great furniture markets will be at our command.

We are thoroughly convinced that this first step is indeed, the marking of a new era in furniture merchandising. For with it, we offer an extension of the services of our Home Decoration department—to help you refurnish your present home—or plan the furnishings of a new home that will harmonize with both, your income and your personality.

In furniture it is often hard for someone not intimately connected with the business, to distinguish between various qualities. To determine why it is that this suite costs so much less than that one. To know and understand the built-in, under-the-surface qualities that are not apparent at first glance. Our new policies will tell you this story instantly.

They will enable you to become an expert judge of furniture values; to separate the wheat from the chaff. One glance will tell you the woods, the finish, the construction, and the design of any piece on our floors.

Now, with this policy, it is no longer necessary for you to become weary wandering among a perfect maze of becomingly contradictory price variations. Under this new policy you can determine at once the actual value of each piece.

Of course, we understand that most homes today operate on a definite budget. And our credit department will work with you in conveniently financing your purchases on the budget plan. Your income will simply determine your payments. In short, our cheerful credit will make or remake your home NOW—without further delay.

Last, but far from least, a fast SERVICE department makes deliveries, performs duties and courtesies in a prompt and efficient manner. Throughout the organization our employees are instructed that "Service does not end with the purchase." Rather, personalized service is to keep you happy and satisfied with genuine Quality merchandise.

After checking these policies, feature by feature, you will surely want to come down and visit us. You will want to see and hear about the store that has taken an intelligent step forward to bring the finer things of life to you. You will sense a new feeling of welcome, that will not be violated by "high pressure" salesmen seeking to influence you. When you visit us, we urge you to go through each display, on every floor, and see every Greater Value FIRST—before buying.

Come in today. See this stock while it is complete. Select those things you've long been wanting to brighten up your home. By all means, ask us to explain in further detail the many ways we can profitably and economically serve you WELL.

Remember, our promise for 1930 is... A YEAR OF BETTER FURNITURE... AND BETTER FURNITURE SELLING... MADE POSSIBLE BY THESE NEW-DAY POLICIES.

COLLETT, ORCUTT IN GOLF SEMI-FINAL

Helen Hicks Is Matched With Edith Quier of Reading, Pa.

Pinehurst, N. C. —(P)—Two matches, featuring four of golf's brightest women stars, constituted today's semi-final round in the women's north and south golf tournament.

Miss Gloria Collett, the national champion, was pitted against Miss Laureen Orcutt, of New York, metropolitan champion, while in the other bracket Miss Helen Hicks of Cleveland and Edith Quier of Reading, Pa., were matched.

Miss Orcutt last week defeated Miss Collett in the mid-south tournament at Southern Pines, N. C., she also was medalist in the qualifying round here this week.

Miss Quier yesterday trounced Miss Virginia Van Wie, Chicago, star, four and two.

Miss Hicks survived the toughest match of the tournament when she eliminated Miss Louise Forester, Youngstown, Ohio, 22 holes of play.

Miss Orcutt beat Mrs. O. S. Hill, Kansas City, four and two.

Miss Collette defeated Miss Leon Federman, New York four and three.

JOHN MCGRAW NAMES HIS STARTING LINEUP

New Orleans. —(P)—Manager John McGraw has just about decided on the lineup in their opening game of the regular season with the Pittsburgh Pirates still to be filled. In the course of discussing the Giant prospects during yesterday's rain, McGraw said he would send his team against the Braves with Johnny Mottill, center field, leading the batters, followed by Leach or Reese, left field; Lindstrom, third base, Terry, first base; Ott, right field; Jackson, shortstop; Marshall, second base; Hogan or O'Farrell, catcher.

As for the pitching job, McGraw refused to commit himself so far in advance but, if the season were opening tomorrow, he said, "I would pitch Bill Walker."

Browns Have Best Hurling Staff In American League

BY JOHN B. FOSTER Copyright 1930

West Palm Beach, Fla. —The western end of the American league is destined to make baseball news this summer, and among these four teams is St. Louis. It is Bill Killefer, who is back in a managerial berth with the Browns, he has the best pitchers in the young major circuit. He thinks, also, that he has one of the best of fielding combinations.

One thing Bill Killefer hasn't got is batting. "I know I have a strong pitching staff," he said. "There is Sam Gray, Alvin Crowder and John Ogden. None of them is a kid. Besides, Warren Collins shows something that makes me happy at meal time, and Dick Coffman, Earl Caldwell and Walter Stewart carry on. Herman Holshouser is doing well, and I have Fred Stely and Rolland Stiles, too. We'll get through with our pitching. If only the boys will bat, we'll get through with other things, too."

TWO MORE GAMES PLAYED IN TOURNAMENT AT KIMBERLY CLUB

Vander Velden Brothers Pitted Against Each Other in Interesting Battle

KIMBERLY. —The third day of the tournament here opened up with a bang, the first game at 4 o'clock being a consolation affair in which two brothers Elmer Vander Velden, captain of the Green and Elmer Vander Velden, captain of the Blues, staged a brotherly family argument which turned out to be one of the best games of the tournament.

Clebourne Vander Velden brought up an offensive like a veteran, his clever passing enabled Klein, his partner, to sink three field goals, while he collected two and a free throw. Judging also covered a field goal, and V. Williams made up the remaining point on a field goal and two gift shots. Elmer Vander Velden showed unusual ability on long shots and sank four field goals from where he could hardly push them. He also made a free toss, Bunnow sank two field goals and Van Daalwyk one to conclude the scoring for the first game. To within two minutes of the final whistle the score was tied, then a basket by Clebourne Vander Velden and Klein gave the Greens a four point lead. Bunnow retaliated with a long shot just before time was up and the Greens won 17-15.

In the second game the Yellows earned the privilege of entering the semi-finals by defeating the Reds in a one sided game. Captain Mennen led the Yellows scoring with four field goals. Shenes followed with three field goals and a free throw. De Leeuw was the main scorer for the losers making two field goals.

Thursday the Browns and Whites will clash in an consolation game and the Pinks and Blacks will decide who will enter the semi-finals.

GOSLIN SIGNS WITH WASHINGTON NATIONALS

Chattanooga, Tenn. —(P)—Goose Goslin, a member of the Senators, will leave tonight for Birmingham, Alabama, for a short series with the Barons. They will return on Sunday, however, for a five game series with the Boston Braves.

In spite of the rain yesterday, things were sunny for the Senators as Goslin signed for $10,000 and a bonus which made it possible for him to earn $16,000, which he was paid last year.

Pre-season talk which had Johnson and Goslin at odds seemed routed with the leader's words following Goslin's signing.

Appleton Wolverines Are Beaten in Close Battle, 22 and 20

KIMBERLY. —The Wolverines of the Appleton Y. M. C. A. and a pick-up team of high school players stayed an interesting game of basket ball at the Kimberly Clubhouse Wednesday evening. The Wolverines got a good start in the first period and held a comfortable lead up to the third stanza. The scores at the first quarter were 4-2 and at the half 13-7. The third period was repetition of the second and at the close the Appleton team still held comfortable lead, the score being 15-0.

At the beginning of the final period the Kimberly lads found themselves. Two baskets by Schwanke and one by Alberts brought the score up to 15-17. Then La May of Kimberly and Sanders of Appleton each sank a field goal. Courchane tied up the score and another goal by La May put the Kimberly team in the lead for the first time. Being only a few minutes of play left the game ended 22-20 in Kimberly's favor.

CUB RESERVES SEEM TO BE IN GOOD FORM

Los Angeles. —(P)—Manager Joe McCarthy's regulars may be slow in reaching form, but the Chicago Cub reserve force appears to be ready for the championship season.

In yesterday's 10 to 2 victory over Los Angeles, only Woody English, shortstop, of the regular infield, was in the lineup. Blair was at third for Bell, Beck worked for Hornsby at second, while Tolson played first for Charlie Grimm, and all performed well. Hornsby's bad heel still bothers him, Grimm is suffering with lumbago and Bell's throwing arm is too lame for duty.

STARK'S WONDERS COP MATCH BOWLING GAME

Stark's Wonders, Appleton Bowling team, coked out a win over the Standard and Manufacturing five in a match game rolled Wednesday evening on Elk club alleys. The score was 2350 and 2314, the Stark quint winning two of the three games.

C. Currie was high for the Starks and also copied high game honors. His series was 541 and his single game mark was 202.

BABE RUTH AND MULES ON THE OUTS HEREAFTER

Waco, Texas. —(P)—Babe Ruth and mules are friends no longer. The leader of the New York Yankee sluggers is suffering from a rather painful injury to a finger because he paid more attention to the antics of a mule in the field at Austin Tuesday than to where the ball was traveling. And he was a bit relieved when yesterday's exhibition game here was rained out and he had a chance to rest the damaged digit.

"I'm off mules," Babe announced. "This is the first hurt since I ever had in the big league. And if that mule hadn't started doing a bronco act on the field I would have caught the bat instead of tanning my finger."

SOUTHERN TEAMS BID HEAVILY FOR U. S. CAGE HONORS

Athens, Tex., Quintet Is Favored to Retain Crown Won Last Year

CHICAGO. —(P)—The chase for the 1930 national high school basketball championship is bounded into the third lap today with the giant Hornets from the Athens, Texas, strong favorites to retain the cherished crown.

Without extending themselves, the husky Texans, routed the last Lanik, N. Dak., team, 35 to 11, in their first counter thrust at the large field seeking to dethrone them. They looked every bit as good as last year when the romped through a larger and possibly a better crop of championship contenders.

There were 15 other surviving teams, however, many of them dark horses, confident of halting the Hornet parade. Chief among them was Denton, Texas, which defeated the titleholders 24 to 19 for the 1929 Lone Star state title. Averaging better than six feet, and playing much the same style of basketball, Denton breezed past the first round easily yesterday by swamping Baylor Institute of Chattanooga, champions of Tennessee, 32 to 15.

Eight of the 16 survivors in the championship scramble today were from Dixie and most of them were representatives of small villages. They were from Jena, La., Lakeland, Fla.; Savannah, Ga.; Corinth, Ky.; Linsley Institute of Wheeling, W. Va.; Braselton, Ga.; Kavanough, W. Va.; Lawrenceburg, Ky.; and Durham, N. C.

Linsley Institute and Corinth were the only teams in the field forced to play two games to wedge into the third round, the remainder of the field driving byes. Corinth defeated Chinook, Mont., 35 to 20 and Linsley won a close one from Spartansburg, S. C., 25 to 22 in their second round skirmishes, in which they displayed championship class.

Another of the heavy favorites was Wheatland, Wyoming, a band of one handed artists which submerged Roanoke, Va., 27 to 14, yesterday.

PHILS AND MACKS PREP FOR SERIES

National Leaguers Hope to Get Out of Batting Slump on Home Lot

Philadelphia. —(P)—The Phils leave home today, their southern training season at an end. When they broke camp yesterday all hands expressed eagerness to get back to the home lot where lusty hitter's crash many a hit against the short right field wall. The clouting circus, which hasn't clouded thus far, predicted a quick recovery from a batting slump soon after setting back to Baker bowl.

Charlotte, N. C. —(P)—A game today and one at Richmond tomorrow wind up the Athletics' training trip and the champions are due in Philadelphia Saturday to begin the annual city series with the Phils. Most of the toadies will be under fire in that series and Manager Mack will then begin to dispose of those not yet ready for big league ball.

Garden Sees Carnera, Dempsey In Outdoor Bout

NEW YORK.—Frank J. Bruen and Tom McArdle of Madison Square Garden, who put their heads together to arrange expensive outdoor fistic entertainment at the Yankee stadium and the Polo Grounds, have just about decided that the customers will have to worry along without a fight between those giants of the ring, Victorio Campolo and Primo Carnera.

A few months ago, when Carnera packed the Garden for a pushover bout with Big Boy Peterson, the Garden moguls put down a Campolo Carnera bout as their biggest attraction of the coming summer.

Bruen and McArdle still believe such a fight would fill either of the ball parks, but they see in the crystal ball a Carnera-Dempsey match in Chicago in September, which precludes the possibility of the gon-doller boxing Campolo here. Also, they see the possibility that the boxing commission may ban Carnera, if the National Boxing association's investigation of his affairs reveals anything not according to Queensberry.

With a 36 and 22 victory over Shorty's Shoes of Little Chute, Mulford Clothing basketball team of Kaukauna wound up a highly successful cage season and tucked its uniforms away in the moth balls until next year. Kilgas starred in the final game getting 17 points, seven field goals and three free throws.

The Mulfords won 23 games this year and lost eight. They played many of the strongest teams in this section, finished second in the district tournament at Appleton and entered the state amateur meet at Green Bay, dropping a decision in the semi-final round to Green Bay.

Members of the team were S. Rusch, A. Campbell, G. St. Mitchell, J. Hovde, W. Kilgas, M. Esler, P. Main, Fay Posson, J. Verbeuten, O. Hostler, L. Hershey and Stanley Beguhn, the latter manager and coach.

Montreal. —(P)—With high hopes of bringing the Stanley cup back to Canada after a two-year stay in the United States, Les Canadiens, Montreal's flying Frenchmen, go into the second game of the series for the professional hockey championship trophy against the Boston Bruins at the Forum tonight.

The Canadiens gained a big margin in the three game series by their 2 to 0 victory at Boston Tuesday and need to win only one more game to win the championship. If Boston should win tonight's game, the deciding contest will be played at Boston Saturday.

Quintets from Six Cities Are Entered in Valley Pin Tournament

The first games of a Fox river valley round robin bowling tournament were rolled Wednesday evening on Elk club alleys. Teams entered in the meet are from Green Bay, DePere, Kaukauna, Appleton, Neenah and Menasha. Games will be rolled in each city except DePere.

A point score system based on the number of hundred pins totaled and games won are used to determine the winning quintets. If a team rolls a 3,000 series it will be given 30 points and if it wins three games in rolling the series, three more points will be added.

LOWMAN TAKES U. W. BASEBALL NINE ON TRAINING JAUNT

Eight Veterans Among 38 Players Badger Coach Has Worked With

MADISON—(P)—After indoor practices dating back to early February, the University of Wisconsin baseball squad will leave on its annual southern training tour Tuesday.

Faced with the loss of eight veterans from its strong 1929 team, Coach Guy S. Lowman has been working with 33 players, five of whom letter winners, in an effort to uphold the Wisconsin tradition of always finishing in the Western conference baseball first division.

One department the Badgers are certain to be strong in its pitching which some observers say is the most important sport in college baseball. Maury Faber, the Chicago right-hander, leads the list of hurlers. Classed as a leading Big Ten pitcher, Faber will have Robert Poser, Columbus, Wis., and Arthur Sommerfield, Chicago, star of the 1929 freshmen, as relief pitchers. Others who may make the grade include Ernest Lusby, Chicago, Fred Williams, Antigo; Arthur Anderson, Milwaukee, and Edgar Gibbons, another Antigo boy.

Catching is one of the Badger gaps. Both John Doyle and George Evans, last year's regulars, are gone, and Harry Griswold, Cambridge, who played first base for the freshmen in 1929, has been shifted to the post. He is working with Francis Lynaugh, Madison, and Lester DeHaven, South Bend, Ind., a reserve last season. Walter Graebner, Wausau, and Ed March, Waupun, are other candidates.

Harvey Schmieder, Schofield, looks like the man, who is to fill "Dymie" Mansfield's place at first base. He covers the sack well and shows promise of becoming a real hitter. Robert Sandke, Chicago, is his understudy.

ELLERMAN AT SECOND

The veteran Harry Ellerman, Chicago, is expected to handle second base. While not a heavy hitter, he plays the position well. Shortstop is the wide open berth in the infield. Two new men, R. E. Walsh, Southington, Conn., and Nello Pacetti, Kenosha, are leading candidates. Carl Mathhusen, Chicago veteran, is expected to handle third base again, unless Coach Lowman sees fit to shift either Mathhusen or Ellerman to shortstop.

Two veterans are expected to fill outfield posts. Edward Mittermyer, a fair ball hater, and a good hitter is expected to perform in right field. Mo Winer, who was ineligible last season, but won a letter two years ago, will be in center. He is a certain fly catcher, but weak at the bat. The left field place lies between Turv Oman, Christholm, Minn.; William Merritt, Lake Geneva, and William Ferris, Madison.

The spring schedule is: April 9, Bradley Tech at Peoria, Ill.; April 10, Washington university at St. Louis; April 11 and 12, Vanderbilt at Nashville, April 14 and

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

JOHAN McGRATH hasn't quit laughing yet about the time Frank Becker, the songster with the rather copious bust development, fell off of John Ringling's yacht at Sarasota. . . . Frank was under water at least half an hour, sez John, and when he finally did come up, boat looks strong enough to hold his could not be found. . . . Job Shawkey is placing a lot of faith in his young pitchers. . . . Donie Bush says if he can get that infield straightened out, look out for him. . . . Phil Ball says most of the ball players in the game today are "candy kids" . . . and that they are not in the game for the love of it, but for the money their skill produces. . . . We didn't ask him why the presidents of the big league teams were in the game. . . . Phil smokes a cigarette now and then, but a couple of years ago he says he would have kicked anybody out of his office who used those things. . . . Ball says he lost close to $200,000 last year in St. Louis.

Sports Question Box

Question—Who is the president of the Executive Committee of the American Olympic Association?

Answer—Dr. Graeme M. Hammond of New York.

Question—I do not agree with the statement that there is no longer a force play when the bases are full simply because the batter has been thrown out at first. What of the runner on third and second?

Answer—The moment that the batter is put out they are not forced because they can return to any base they may have held if they are able to do so. The fact that you do not believe in the ruling suggests that you study the rule a little closer because it has been in force since baseball was invented.

Question—Will the Cleveland baseball club have a new park this year?

Answer—It hardly seems probable.

MISFORTUNE MEMBER OF PITTSBURGH NINE

Houston, Tex.—(P)—Old man misfortune, who has tagged just about everybody on the Pittsburgh Pirate training squad, seems determined to make a complete job of it. Even the umpire has fallen victim. Ted McGrath, new National league official traveling with the Bucs, has the grippe, of the team with which Jewel Ems hopes to ride to a pennant this year, only Paul Waner, Suhr and Comoroskey are able to be at their posts—and Comoroskey has a bruised foot.

15, Spring Hill college at Mobile Ala. April 16 and 17, Mississippi A & M, at Starkville, and April 19, Western State Teachers college at Kalamazoo, Mich.

Wisconsin will open its home season April 22, playing Bradley here. The conference race gets under way at Chicago April 25.

HUNDERTMARK AT KENOSHA, APRIL 11

Green Bay Fighter Battles With Golden Gloves Champion

Green Bay—Billy Hundertmark, flashy Green Bay fighter, will get the biggest 'slot' of his life in Kenosha on April 11, when he goes up against Karl Olan, Swedish amateur and Golden Gloves champion, in the wrap up bout on an amateur card sponsored by the Kenosha Eagles.

Olan is regarded as one of the best amateurs in the country in the 145 pound class. He took part in the Golden Gloves tournament at Chicago, winning all of his preliminary bouts and earned a right to compete on the Chicago team against a New York fighter. In his fight against Walter Palm, of the New York team, Olan gave Palm a decisive trimming and got the decision.

After a lay off of about two months Billy returned to the ring recently. He won his start at Sheboygan in an impressive fashion and last week Appleton knocked out an outstanding Milwaukee amateur in the first round of the fight. He has been training faithfully for the Kenosha bout and expects to be in the best shape of his career.

After the fight with Hundertmark, Olan is scheduled to go on an amateur tour with Dave Barry, Chicago fight referee, as his opponent.

Talks To Parents

IT TAKES TIME

By Alice Judson Peale

Dora's mother was disappointed because, having moved for the child's benefit to an environment as nearly ideal as possible, she did not at once show physical improvement or any indication that she was benefiting by the new situation.

From a crowded city apartment Dora had been taken to live in a cottage on the set shore. The house was simple and roomy with only as much furnishing as was necessary for comfort. Along the beach there was a broad concrete walkway which might have been more expressly for the joy of the child who loved to race their tricycles and express wagons up and down. There was a beach—a broad sandy stretch of clean sand. Sea gulls ran along the water's edge and the surf curled white under a blue sky. What more could any child want?

But for nearly a month after they came to live there Dora dogged her mother's footsteps in the house and was most unhappy when compelled to go outdoors to play.

Strange as it may seem it would have been most surprising if she had not done just this. Children like the rest of us, are creatures of habit. No matter how perfect the new situation to which a child is introduced it usually takes time for him to take advantage of it. This is especially true of the emotional child who lives much within himself.

Our case at such times is to be patient, and to give the environment time to take its effect. With the especially dependent child a little help helps him to make friends with a situation if his mother tempers it becomes his playmate for a little while each day. The association of mother and child is to be maintained with the new scene is to be relaxed and the child feels himself at ease and more quickly.

Probably more than one of the people of the earth live in the same way.

SAND TABLE HELPS TO ILLUSTRATE HISTORY

Miniature fortresses galloping over the most battle-scarred sands of the fighting troops living deep in the trenches serve to illustrate medieval warfare to the sixth grade history class at First ward school, taught by Miss Werner Witte.

McKINLEY BOYS ARE LEARNING TO COOK

Any chap, with or without Boy Scout training, can roast weiners over a campfire, flip eggs and bacon in a frying pan, and maybe do a steak to the proper turn, but it takes the boys of the Cookery club at McKinley junior high school to delve into intricate concoctions like chocolate cake, baked apples and such. During the last four meetings of the club, the boys, with rolled sleeves and grins on their faces, have prepared squaw corn, baked apples, hamburger sandwiches and cup cakes. Jack Biehl, treasurer, was the best baker and Leo Don Heule was the most willing dishwasher.

NEW SUPREME COURT JUDGE WAS TEACHER IN SUNDAY SCHOOL

John J. Parker is Labeled "Middle-of-the-road" Man; Has Few Hobbies

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Washington—After all the objections made to the appointment of Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, President Hoover played safe when the next vacancy occurred in the U. S. Supreme Court and picked a Sunday school teacher.

Only favorable reports have been made on the record of John Johnson Parker, who, when and if his appointment is confirmed by the Senate, will succeed the late Edward T. Sanford as associate justice.

Parker comes from Charlotte, N. C., with a strong reputation for righteousness and ability. His career, though far from spectacular, seems to have been without a flaw. His personality and constant kindness have the briskeness of youth, and his speech is lowly, unstilted. The same simplicity with which he greeted the world of his nomination—"I feel very humble"—is part of his general make-up.

TEACHES SUNDAY SCHOOL
The judge is proud of his men's class in an Episcopal church in Charlotte, and seldom misses a Sunday as its teacher. He is almost equally regular in his attendance at the weekly luncheon of the Kiwanis club.

After he went on the federal bench in 1935 he missed the chances of exercising his excellent oratorical powers in political speeches, as he had done in the past. So he took to addressing non-partisan groups, and especially to giving inspiring addresses to young people.

Judge Parker is a big fellow, about an inch over six feet. An honest-to-goodness Southerner despite his staunch Republicanism, he has a rich southern accent. He married the daughter of a captain in the Confederate navy, and his family goes back into North Carolina history. His great-grandfather, James Iredell, was the first U. S. Supreme Court justice from that state.

YOUNGEST ON BENCH
Only 44 now, he will be the youngest man on the Supreme bench. He was the youngest member of the circuit court too, and they say he did most of the work on that circuit because of his youthful vigor.

Carrying a cane is about his only habit. He seldom smokes and never has been known to take a drink. His favorite recreation is reading books of law, although he gives some time to "solid" literature, and knows the classics well.

He has been too busy all his life, he says, to learn how to play. Years ago he bought a set of golf clubs, which never have been used. Married and the father of three children, his chief joy is his home life.

The judge has been a politician and knows how to get along, but his nature is a serious one and his friends, though they refer to him as a "regular fellow," apparently never have called him "Jack." They know him as plain John, and he in turn usually addresses other men as "Brother."

At the University of North Carolina John Parker was both a freshman and senior classes, an extremely rare honor. He was a star debater, and led in nearly every activity except actual participation in athletics. But he made up for that by serving as president of the athletic association.

Parker first showed his iron nerve by beginning the practice of law in Greensboro and publicly confessing his Republicanism. The county was Democratic by 10 to 1, and Republicans had been almost socially ostracized. But he was found to be a cultured gentleman, as well as a persevering one. He overcame every shadow of prejudice, and prospered mightily in his business.

His party needed all the strength it could get, so Parker lost no time in getting into active politics. He took three successive lickings as Republican nominee for congressman, attorney general, and governor. But—and this is significant—in his last race he received 63,000 more votes than had been accorded any candidate of either party up to that time. His victorious Democratic opponent, former Governor Cameron Morrison, later was one of his staunchest supporters for the Supreme Court appointment and took a special trip to Washington to urge that it be made.

Parker became a special assistant to the U. S. attorney general Republican national committee-man, president of the state bar of the American Bar Association, before President Coolidge put him on the circuit bench. This appointment, in 1925, is supposed to have been the result of Parker's work in piecing together war frauds.

MIDDLE-OF-THE-ROAD MAN
On the bench, according to lawyers, the judge always keeps up

GOOD-BYE, ITCHING SKIN
Soothing, healing and tremendously efficient, itchy Zemo brings cool relief to itching skin. Even where skin is raw and peeling, thousands have found that Zemo quickly restores comfort. It helps smooth away blemishes and clear up pimples, rash and other annoying itching skin and scalp irritations. Keep clear, antiseptic Zemo always on hand. Use it freely. with the arguments, and usually is ahead of them. As a young lawyer he could think quickly, and they tell him he once was among a group of attorneys who were conferring with a judge about making up the calendar.

Parker has a personal injury case and was not ready for trial. The lawyer for the company knew that and demanded a trial at once.

"Then if your honor please," Parker told the court, "I shall have to have my client brought in on a stretcher."

"That would be awful," exclaimed the opposing attorney, and agreed to a postponement.

Washington is wondering whether Parker will form the liberal bloc on the Supreme Court—now including Justices Holmes, Brandeis and Stone—or the conservative majority. Most of his friends describe him as a middle-of-the-road man, with high regard both for property right and human rights.

But Horse Williams, professor of philosophy at the University of North Carolina, who has known the judge intimately for years, advised President Hoover that Parker could be expected to give first consideration to human rights.

CLOSED SEASON WILL PROTECT WILD TURKEY
Madison — (P) — A closed season throughout the year will protect the wild American turkey introduced to Wisconsin by the conservation commission.

Although the wild turkey is not mentioned in the statutes governing closed and open seasons on game, it will be protected by the section permitting no open season and no bag limit on all birds not specifically mentioned.

The wild turkey was left out of the statutes because it has not been a Wisconsin game bird for more than 30 years, the conservation commission said.

Thou great Creator of men's souls, we thank Thee for the power of the human spirit to triumph over circumstances and to overcome evil. We covet that power for ourselves this day that we may not be easy victims of environment, but may be greater than anything that can happen to us. Amen.

NORMAL GRADUATES TO GET DIPLOMAS AT U. S. CAPITOL

Seniors at County Institution to Accompany Rural Students

Kaukauna—Students of the Outagamie Rural Normal school will join the eighth grade graduates of the rural schools in Outagamie-co next June on the trip to Washington, D. C., according to W. P. Hagman, principal. In past years the graduates of the Normal school went to Madison on a two-day graduation trip.

The Madison trip will be cancelled this spring. The cost of going to Washington will exceed the cost of going to Madison by about only $10 per student, according to Principal Hagman. About 400 students in the county will make the trip to Washington and receive their diplomas from President Hoover, according to plans being made by A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools, who originated the plan. The expense will be about $25 per student, which includes train transportation, lodging and meals for four days.

Two students from the eighth grades of the city schools will be able to make the trip free, as the Kaukauna American Legion and the Kaukauna Rotary club will pay their expense. The students will be selected on the merits of their school work. All eighth grade pupils have a chance to be chosen.

Plans have been started to make it possible for four eighth grade students to make the trip free. In this way each grade school in the city would be represented. It is expected that two other local organizations will undertake the suggestion of financing the trip.

PIGEON FANCIERS IN KAUKAUNA TRAIN BIRDS

Kaukauna—Fair weather finds Kaukauna pigeon fanciers getting enjoyment out of the first trial flights of their pigeons. New flocks are being flown daily for short distance. COLLEGE HAS EXHIBIT OF HUNGARIAN ETCHINGS

An interesting exhibit of 13 contemporary Hungarian etchings was placed on display on the second floor of the Lawrence College library today.

These etchings are unusual in the dark backgrounds that are used in most of them, produced in most cases by close cross-stroke etching. The pieces are on sale and may be purchased at the business office of the college.

"KONJOLA GETS ALL CREDIT FOR ENDING MY ILLS"

This Man Strongly Praises New Medicine That Ended His Suffering

MR. OSCAR BRANNE

"How I wish I had known of Konjola long ago," said Mr. Oscar Branne, Fisher Hotel, Kenosha. "For two years I tried everything I heard of in an attempt to gain relief from constipation and indigestion. I made life miserable. About two hours after eating, my stomach would load up with gas and my breath would come in gasps. Nothing I ate agreed with me. Terrible headaches and sickening dizzy spells were the result of poor elimination. "The many sincere indorsements of Kenosha people led me to try Konjola, and this splendid medicine, lost no time in going to the root of my ailments. Constipation was quickly overcome. Dizzy spells and headaches vanished and daily my appetite improved. In one month, Konjola banished all my ills and restored my health. I advise all who suffer as I did to give Konjola a fair trial, and let it prove its merit." "Thus Konjola, works, quickly yet thoroughly. One does not have to wait long for relief when Konjola is given a chance, but for complete and lasting results six to eight bottles are recommended. Konjola is sold in Appleton at Schlitz Drug Store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

Of Interest To Farmers

SOIL TREATMENT IS CERTAIN NOW, FARMERS REMINDED

Fertilization and Crop Rotation Have Become Necessary

BY W. F. WINSEY
During the past fifty years soil treatment has made a radical change from uncertainty to certainty. Ever since the land was cleared in this vicinity and put under cultivation, a portion of the original soil fertility was sold by farmers each year with animals, crops and other farm products, and the only replacement was residues left in barnyard manure, and an occasional green manure crop plowed under.

With this continuous yearly draught on soil fertility which was the thing a farmer bought when he took possession of his farm and the only thing he had to sell afterward besides his daily labor and skill, the soils have become more or less exhausted and are producing less and less as year follows year.

On an eighty acre farm the manure containing the residue of unsold fertility for any year taken from the soil by growing crops has been sufficient to cover only ten acres yearly, and the 70 acre balance of the farm had to be left of necessity without any fertilizer replacement.

In selecting a field to be given the manure product of the typical eighty acre farm each year, the farmer had absolutely no guide except the quality and yield of the preceding year's crop of hay, pasture, or grain, and the crop rotation he had adopted and was following.

Often under these uncertainties a field was selected for a manure application that did not need the treatment as badly as any one of the balance of his fields. From lack of care the manure was often almost worthless before it was applied. One rotation followed on the farms was manure pasture, manure, corn, small grain, hay, and back to pasture. During three years of this rotation, the field got no manure at all, and all the time to make this rotation reasonably effective, the farm had to be equally divided into hay, pasture, corn, and small grain fields. Many farms could not be so divided on account of woodlots, ravine, knolls, and swamps.

The plant foods sold by the farmers with their animals, dairy products and crops were, nitrogen, phosphate, lime and potash. When manure is in perfect condition it contains proportions of these plant foods but when it has been neglected only negligible quantities.

Under the pressure of decreasing yields of crops, and shortage of barnyard manure, farmers during the past few years have been buying lime, phosphate, nitrogen and potash and applying them singly or in mixtures to their fields without a compass or guide of any kind but low yields of crops and their imagination.

If a farmer selected the fertilizer in which the field was deficient and which the growing crop needed for food, and got a big yield, he was lucky, but if he selected the kind not needed, he was unlucky.

The source of the farmer's troubles in solving his fertilizer problem was that he had no reliable way of finding out what kind of fertilizers were scarce in his fields, and what kinds his special crops required except to have the soils of his fields analyzed by the Wisconsin College of Agriculture, and recommendations made. This process involved some trouble and expense.

Lately all troubles and perplexities over the kind and amount of fertilizer needed in a field or farm have been removed. The owner of a farm may find out the kind and amount of plant food still remaining in the

SPORTSMEN BACKING FISH REARING PONDS

Madison—(AP)—A growing spirit of cooperation among Wisconsin sportsmen is evidenced in the increasing number of requests for instructions on the building of fish rearing ponds, the conservation commission announced today.

The commission has long encouraged the construction of ponds by private groups of sportsmen and last year 147 groups were engaged in the work. The commission furnishes the blue prints showing methods of construction and stocks the ponds.

After the fish are raised to a large fingerling or adult size they are transplanted in streams.

MENOMINEE INDIAN TRIBE MAY RECEIVE $100 PER CAPITA

Bill Authorizing Payment Is Introduced by Schneider

BY RUBY A. BLACK
Post-Crescent Washington Correspondent

Washington—A payment of $100 will be made to each member of the Menominee tribe of Indians in Wisconsin if Congress passes a bill introduced by Representative George J. Schneider of Appleton.

The fate of the bill will probably depend upon the attitude of the Bureau of Indian Affairs toward it. Sometimes they approve such measures and again they occasionally oppose them. They have a tendency to oppose these per capita payments if Indian bureau officials think such disbursements will too greatly reduce the Indians' interest-bearing funds in the Treasury.

The Menominees are said to have around $2,500,000.00 in the Treasury, bearing interest of 4 to 5 per cent. The interest on these funds is added to the principal, and out of the total funds are paid expenses of schools and hospitals and other benefits to the tribe.

A disbursement of $100 per capita would take about $200,000 out of the Menominee funds in the Treasury, or would reduce their interest something less than $10,000 a year, as there are around 2,000 members of the tribe.

Ralph Fredenburg, representative of the Menominees in Washington, is seeking the per capita payments to members of the tribe.

The bill was referred to the Committee on Indian Affairs, which will doubtless ask the opinion of Indian Commissioner C. J. Rhoads on it.

SHANSI CHIEF HEADS NATIONALIST TROOPS

Peiping, China —(AP)—Yen Hsi-Shan, governor of Shansi, today assumed office at Taiwan as commander-in-chief of the "National" land, naval and air forces. At the same time he issued a circular telegram to the people pleading his support to move for the overthrow of Chiang Kai-Shek, president of the Nationalist government, whom Yen denounced as a dictator.

Yen asserted that the Kuomintang, the Nationalist political organization, had developed it to the personal instrument of Chiang who does with it whatever pleases his fancy.

"In response to requests from party supporters and also petitions from both the army and the people," said Yen, "I am determined to assume the office of commander-in-chief of the armed forces with the aim of leading various expeditions to save the Kuomintang and the nation."

LUMBER DEALERS OF STATE FIGHT RATE INCREASE

Latest Protestants Are Shippers from Northern Wisconsin

(Post-Crescent Washington Bureau)

Washington — Wisconsin lumber shippers continue to fight the increase in rates of lumber which will result from the changed grouping of Wisconsin origin points in the new tariff to go into effect on August 23, 1930.

The new tariff which provides proportional rates on lumber and forest products from points in Wisconsin and upper Michigan to Central and Western Association territory, from which no joint through rates are in effect, was to have become effective on January 30, 1930. However, the Interstate Commerce commission received so many protests from Wisconsin shippers that it suspended the date.

The tariff now in effect divided the Wisconsin origin points into three groups, with the cities falling in group 2 and group 3, both of which had slightly higher rates than group 1, specifically named, while group 1 consisted of all not in groups 2 and 3. The purpose of the new tariff is stated merely as a desire to clarify this classification. There is apparently no wish to create higher rates.

The latest protestants, shippers of lumber in Rhinelander, Wis., gave a short history of the rate situation, in their brief filed with the Interstate Commerce commission.

Prior to 1905, and for awhile afterwards, they say, there were no joint through rates on lumber from Wisconsin and upper Michigan. The rates were based on combinations of local commodity rates. An equalization of rates was attempted and resulted in misunderstandings and overcharging.

The situation became so bad that in 1908, the interested carriers decided to establish joint through rates with one rate for all gateways. This was done on February 15, 1909. The previous attempt at equalization had established varying rates for the various gateways.

The Rhinelander complainants feel that the present tariff is perfectly clear and adequate. They charge that the new grouping which under present plans, will go into effect in August, pays no attention to rates applicable from origin points to the gateways or the through rates which it will produce. The new tariff neglects these important features, and groups with relation only to geographical location.

Referring to their own particular case, the Rhinelander shippers protest that the new tariff will make the rates from Rhinelander unduly prejudicial and preferential to their competitors located on the lake shore of Wisconsin and upper Michigan. The rates would be higher from Rhinelander than from Rib Lake, although Rib Lake is poorly and unfortunately located for transportation, and the advantage of 23 cents which Goodman, Wis., now enjoys would be increased to 5 cents.

They ask at least further consideration by the commission, if the commission still feels that a change in tariff and grouping is necessary.

Be Calm And Happy, Says State Medical Society

Madison—Mental health is the distinguishing characteristic of people who go smilingly to their tasks. It is a disposition easily acquired and banishes the "blues," irritability and worries over trifling difficulties. Mental disorder saps life of its joy; mental health is a blessing as beneficent in society as the sunlight.

The Educational Committee of the State Medical Society of Wisconsin in a bulletin today tells people that "mental health" cures more fancied ailments than any other remedy. It says that it is habit easily acquired and radiates sociability wherever the possessor goes.

"Instead of being haunted by impending disaster, instead of being troubled by petty annoyances, instead of being worried by trifling difficulties, the person possessing mental health will fulfill the duties and responsibilities of life with calmness and composure, feeling certain that the present as it moves on into the future carries with it adequate guarantees of continued security," declares the bulletin.

"To the unhealthy mind, life seems insecure and exposed to many dangers; the world appears chaotic and filled with destructive elements; people seem sordid and controlled by selfish impulses; altruistic effort seems useless and social progress, impossible. Mental health becomes, therefore, the first essential to well-ordered and complete life. With a healthy mind the individual may reach a goal commensurate with his ability; with a disordered mind he is doomed to low-grade achievement or to failure, dependency or degradation. The mentally healthy individual meets the varying situations of life with confidence and courage, and using his reason as his guide, determines the line of action to be pursued. He may be misinformed; he may make mistakes; he may suffer misfortune; but his equanimity will not be seriously disturbed. He accepts full responsibility for his conduct, and acknowledges error freely. He rises above adverse circumstances and gains wisdom from his failures as well as his successes.

"Underlying the reactions of the healthy-minded person is a philosophy of life, or a general attitude of mind that gives assurance that the world as a whole is well-ordered; that reaping will follow sowing and that the present as it moves on into the future carries with it adequate guarantees of continued security," declares the bulletin.

RADIO MERGER IS UP TO GOVERNOR

Kohler Must Make Decision Pending His Ruling on Fund Transfer

Stevens Point—(AP)—Decision on whether radio station WLEB of Stevens Point and WHA of Madison will be consolidated rests with Gov. Walter J. Kohler pending his ruling on a transfer of funds asked by university and department of agriculture and markets officials sponsoring the merger and erection of a new station.

At a hearing held here recently, central and northern Wisconsin persons rallied to the support of WLEB on the ground that the state met a definite agricultural need.

Four assemblymen and one senator acted as spokesmen for farmers and agrarian industries at the hearing presided over by Charles L. Hill, chairman of the state department of agriculture and markets.

Senator H. J. Severson of Iowa said: "The consolidation plan was plainly poorly advised and it is far fetched to assume that as good broadcasting can be given at any other point as at the central Wisconsin location at Stevens Point."

"There is no logic in locating WLEB near the state line where its service would be dissipated to the benefit of residents of adjoining states to the detriment of Wisconsin taxpayers," Assemblyman George O'Connor, Hancock, told the commission.

Assemblyman D. F. Burnham of Waupaca and M. J. Mersch of Stevens Point also spoke against the proposed removal.

In addition the commission heard protests presented by chambers of commerce at Wausau, Wisconsin Rapids and Rhinelander.

Attorney George B. Nelson reminded the commission that the broadcasting station was established by taxpayers' money primarily for the broadcasting of markets to farmers. He asked the commission to investigate reception facilities of the new station before acting upon removal.

W. F. Collins, Arnot banker, told the commission that 150 farmers of his locality signed a petition against removal. "Every farmer driving to town with a load of potatoes knows the price before he leaves home," he said. "He gets quotations from WLEB every morning. The radio station is making money for the farmers."

chairman of the troop committee. Edward Junge is scoutmaster of the troop.

Thiede Good Clothes

POTS AND PANS ARE THE WORST PART OF DISHWASHING. AREN'T THEY?

NOT IF YOU USE RINSO. IT LOOSENS GREASE IN A TWINKLING.

So quick—so easy
—this new way to wash dishes!

BE GOOD to yourself—change to Rinso.
Millions of women can tell you what a remarkable work-saver it is. Why, on washday it actually soaks clothes whiter, brighter than they can be scrubbed. Safely!

And in the dishpan, its rich, active suds work like magic. Grease swishes right off. A hot rinse, and the dishes dry clear without wiping.

So economical, too. Cup for cup, Rinso goes twice as far as lightweight, puffed-up soaps because it is granulated and compact. Get the BIG package. Use it for laundering, for basins, tubs, woodwork and all cleaning.
